Critical Mass

Mass services at St. Joseph's Chapel at Dunbar Ave. in Bay St. Louis have been suspended indefinitely due to a shortage of priests.

Shortage of priests leads to closing at St. Joseph's

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

For the first time since its establishment in 1896, the Sunday Mass said at St. Joseph Chapel on Dunbar Ave. in Bay St. Louis will no longer be held. Due to the illness and resulting long term recovery of Monsignor Gregory Johnson, Bishop John Thomas Rodi announced in a letter to the parish last week that the chapel would be closing its doors indefinitely.

The chapel will remain on the list of places where a mass may be held and upkeep to the building and grounds will continue to ensure that the condition of the buildings and grounds remain intact, said parishioner Jim Collins. Also, several weddings already scheduled to be held at the chapel will go on as planned, he said. The traditional St. Joseph's Alter will be held and it is hoped that an evening mass will be said that Friday, he said. The closing of the chapel

Butler's lives of the Saints lists St. Joseph as the patron saint of families, working men, social justice, and the church. A tradition began in the Middle Ages, in which the families of farmers and fishermen built altars to St. Joseph in their homes to share their good fortune with others in need.

comes "with great disappointment" said Rodi in a letter to the parish. St. Joseph's holds a special place in Rodi's heart as he attended Mass at the chapel as a child, said Collins.

County school board declines to save head coach's post

Gaudin out of top spot; athletics director position begins in '04-'05

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

During the Feb. 5 Hancock County School Board meeting, Superintendent David Kopf asked board members to rescind an action they approved in the fall of 2003 which abolished the head coach of athletics position for the 2004-2005 school year.

He also asked the board to "rescind the policy whereby coaching of a sport by the head coach of athletics is prohibited" and to "reinstate authority for head coach of athletics to recommend the employment of head coaching personnel and conduct personnel evaluations of head coaching personnel for the 2003-2004 school year and subsequent years."

His recommendations, however, failed with three board members voting "no."

Board member Cheryl Bennett said she voted "yes" because she believes the board should have complied with the superintendent's recommendations. Larry Peterson said he voted along with Bennett because he believed the district would spend more money for the creation of the athletics director, which would take the place of the abolished head coach of athletics position.

Superintendent David Kopf on Thursday asked school board members to preserve Head Coach Rocky Gaudin's position.

Board Pres. Peggy Lader said the newly-expanded duties of the director's job will "help to reduce the burden" on curriculum coordinators.

Board president Peggy Lader said this was not the case.

"The public has been misled in regards to the salary. The new position of athletic director will replace the old position of head coach of athletics," she said. "One salary will replace the other one. There will be no newly created or duplication of teaching positions. Any increase in salary will be invaluable to the district as the expanded responsibilities of a certified athletic director will help to reduce the burden on our curriculum coordinators and reduce the burden on our principals, allowing them to spend more time in the classrooms."

Former superintendent Mike Lader said he wanted to create the position of athletics director because of these

Chief investigator Hurt's truck stolen

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

Hancock County Sheriff's Chief Investigator Kenny Hurt's black GMC Z71 was stolen from his residence between the hours of 10 and 11 p.m. Thursday night.

Hurt said, "A patrol deputy passed my home at 11 p.m. and the police vehicle was gone. Apparently the culprits had pushed, or pulled the locked vehicle from my residence. I really did not know it was missing until Friday morning when I was ready to leave for work at 7 a.m."

The GMC Z71 was a seized vehicle from a recent 'chop shop' operation and Hurt had it for the past three months.

Bay High dancers go to Hawaii

Seven members of the Bay High School Dance Team recently returned from a week stay in Hawaii. They were selected to become a member of the American All-Star Dance Team. They had the opportunity to perform in the Hawaii vs Army Football game in a half-time show to Salute the Troops. They also got the once in a lifetime experience to tour the famous Pearl Harbor, lounge on the beautiful beaches, and attend a genuine Luau. The girls had a fabulous time and would like to say thanks to the community for their support.

Tips lead to burglary bust

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

Good tips from the public led to the arrest last week of two adults and a juvenile involved in several Shoreline Park area burglaries, according to Sheriff's Investigator Andre Fizer.

Fizer said, "Daniel Wheat, 35 was arrested on January 12, a juvenile on January 14, and Gerald Schoonmaker, 21, on February 3. All of Shoreline Park. The two adults bonds were set at $20,000 each and the juvenile turned over to Youth Court. In addition to being charged with one count of a burglary, the two adults were additional charged with one count each of directing a youth to commit a felony.

"We have recovered television sets, power tools, a damaged safe, appliances, household items, etc., probably from five burglaries," Fizer added. "The investigation continues, as we are still seeking the whereabouts of a least a fourth subject who may have been involved in the burglaries."

One of the residences had a safe which was removed and opened which contained over $2,000 in cash, Fizer said.

Some of the items recovered were from area pawn shops, with more items being sought by police.

Assisting Fizer in the several weeks investigation were; Investigators John Luther, Tom Roan and Bert Johnson from the sheriff's office.

Drawdown at Civic Center out-of-hand

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

A drawdown benefit at the Hancock County Civic Center last week could have been a disaster, according to sheriff's officers who responded to an assault call.

Shift supervisor Lt. Ron Borja said, "The sheriff's office received a call that a girl was assaulted, and when we arrived at the Civic Center, we could not locate the alleged victim."

Borja continued, "Because there must have been 1,500 people in the building, there was broken glass all over the floor, people were wall to wall from front to the back of the facility."

"One gentlemen tripped over a cooler and struck the floor causing a gash on his forehead, and I transported him to Hancock Medical Center for treatment. A gentlemen in the parking lot was using a lot of foul language and was out of control. We had to arrest him and take him to jail," Borja added.

The jail log listed Wade Lawrence Deschamp, 30, of Hancock County on January 31, as being booked with assault of a police officer, destruction of county property, disorderly conduct, public drunk and resisting arrest. A bond was set at $3,300 and he posted bond.

Borja said, "There were a large number of juveniles in the Civic Center and indications were that some had been provided alcoholic beverages by adults."

"I feel there were far too many people for the building, and additionally the drawdown sponsors should have had more than three deputies for the event, because of the overflow crowd," Borja stated.

Ronnie Cuevas, Sheriff's Chief Administrative Officer said, "Deschamp did some interior damage to a deputy's car on his way to jail."

Deputies responding, or at the drawdown included, Borja, Tim Campbell, Sara Underwood, Mike Cuevas, Paul Fernandez and Sal Marchese.

High speed chase suspect nabbed on I-10

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

Hancock County Sheriff's officers assisted Harrison County deputies in the capture of a high speed chase suspect Thursday night, according to Captain Eddie Jennings.

Jennings said, "We received a call from Harrison County that deputies were in pursuit of a vehicle traveling West on I-10.

"We setup at mile marker two with stop sticks and deflated the vehicles tires. The driver continued a bit down the highway, ran into a ditch and then fled from the vehicle."

"Lt. Jimmy. Esposito apprehended the suspect in the woods and turned him over to Harrison County officers," Jennings said.

Other Hancock officers assisting included, Lt. Ron Borja, Deputy Mac Besnard, Lt. Danny Gilkerson, two units from Harrison County, Waveland Patrolman Bret Anderson, in addition to a St. Tammany Parish unit setup at the Louisiana line, Jennings said.

Correction

In a letter to the editor in the Thursday, February 5 edition of The Sea Coast Echo, Hancock County Chancery Clerk Tim Kellar was incorrectly identified as the county tax collector/assessor. Jimmie Ladner is the tax collector/assessor for Hancock County.

Hancock Grand Jury report

IN THE CIRCUIT
COURT OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI
FINAL REPORT
OF THE AUGUST 2003
TERM GRAND JURY TO
THE HONORABLE CIR-CUIT COURT JUDGE
JERRY O. TERRILL

We, the August, 2003, Grand Jury of Hancock County, Mississippi, having been duly selected, sworn, impaneled and charged respectfully submit our Final Report.

We were impaneled on August 12, 2003, and were in session August 28, 2003, September 25, 2003, October 30, 2003, November 13, 2003, November 20, 2003, December 18, 2003 and January 29, 2004 for a total of 7 days. During this time we considered a total of 177 cases. We returned 36 No True Bills, 136 True Bills of indictment, 4 cases were passed to the next Grand Jury and 1 case was docketed in error. Of these 136 True Bills of indictment, 8 were returned as Habitual Offenders and 3 were returned as Enhanced Penalty.

I.

The following speakers appeared before the Grand Jury to discuss their responsibilities:

1. Todd Matthews, Hancock County Forestry Commission;
2. David Kopft, Hancock County Superintendent of Education;
3. Jimmie Ladner, Hancock County Tax Collector;
4. Ronnie Cuevas, Chief Administrator, Hancock County Sheriff's Office;
5. Tim Kellar, Hancock County Chancery Clerk;

II.
1. The Grand Jury visited the Hancock County Jail. The jail appears relatively clean and maintained. The Grand Jury recommends that the sheriff conduct an evaluation of the jail to address maintenance and safety issues in the inmate exercise yard such as exposed mechanical equipment and wiring as well as continuous maintenance issues such as painting and broken windows.

2. This Grand Jury noted considerable differences between various jurisdictions in the preparation and presentation of cases. The Grand Jury recommends that all law enforcement agencies work to collect and preserve evidence needed for successful prosecutions in felony DUI cases. The Grand Jury recommends that officers obtain physical evidence of impairment needed for prosecution. Also, the Grand Jury recommends that whenever possible, law enforcement obtain clear audio and video of undercover drug investigations and DUI investigations.

3. The Grand Jury recommends that the law enforcement agencies in the county work together to exchange information and resources that would assist in the prosecution of cases.

There being no further matters to consider at this time, we, the Grand Jury respectfully request that we be dismissed.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED, this the 3rd day of February, 2004.

MICHAEL D. CHAPOTON,
FOREMAN OF THE
GRAND JURY
AUGUST 2003 TERM

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

Congratulations are in order for David Mayley, who has been appointed by Bay Mayor Eddie Favre to the Bay-Waveland School board.

Mayley replaces Richard Flowers on March 1, to the school board position.

Flowers served some 10 years on the school board and last month submitted a letter of resignation to the mayor and council, stating all of his children are now out of the system.

Mayley owner of Pest Control Specialist and has been very active in several civic projects.

I am sure David will do a fine job at his new appointment.

Flowers who recently retired from Hancock Medical Center, needs to be commended on many years of service to the Bay-Waveland School District.

There is a lot of time and effort on the part of folks who accept such responsibilities.

I am sure folks cannot wait for the upgrading of several signal lights on U.S. Highway 90 through Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

I wonder where are all those folks who said Highway 90 was going to 'dry up' when I-10 was opened.

There is far more traffic on Highway 90 than ever before and it seems to increase every week.

Making turns at some of the signals is a problem and it is good the City of Bay St. Louis's governing body will let the Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) add the work to a current contract.

I like the idea of MDOT also working equipment upgrades to improve communication capabilities between the signals on 90 through the two municipalities.

Basketball still plays a big part in Hancock County sports.

When Hancock North Central opened, a combination of Sellers, Dedaux and Kiln high schools, the Hawks could take any high school team.

Even being a small school, Hancock took top state honors in basketball.

Several years down the road, not to be left out, girls' basketball was a thriller with such greats as Joye Lee of Leetown, who still holds Hancock's all-time scoring record was on the court.

I can recall going to her Leetown residence many years ago, taking her photo and writing a story about her great high school career.

Lee went on to USM and made her mark there too, and hold the school's sixth highest scoring record.

Now comes along another Hancock High girl's basketball star, and that is Devin Ncaise, who has joined Joye Lee-McNelis' Memphis Tigers basketball team as a true freshman.

Lee-McNelis has been head coach at Memphis since 1991 and done a tremendous job as a coach of the Lady Tigers.

Hancock Countians should be watching the exploits of Ncaise for several years to come too at Memphis.

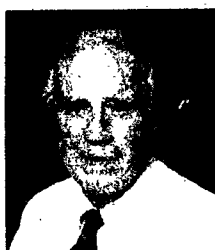

Best of luck to Devin in her college basketball career.

No attorney general comes close to Moore

At age 51, Mike Moore still has the same boyish look he had when he arrived on the state political stage in 1987, and then for 16 years was Mississippi's (great) attorney-general.

Now he's leaving the state payroll for the private sector to support his family on much better money than the state ever paid him. (Ironically, the AG salary has just been raised by $25,000.)

Though gone from public office, in his new job, Moore

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

has no intention of stopping what had become his passion as AG: helping kids have a better life and avoiding pitfalls thrown at them by modern society.

Mississippi political history should rightly characterize Mike Moore as the rare state political figure who would have been governor if he had run for the job. For anyone else it would sound trite to say family considerations kept him from running. For Mike it was true.

Moore has put himself on the shelf, politically speaking, but that doesn't mean he is done with politics for good. Being a U.S. Senator is one job he admits he would someday like to have. And he has time to wait on one of Mississippi's seats coming open.

Would he run against an incumbent, namely Thad Cochran or Trent Lott? "You never know," Moore says with a hint of a chuckle.

Certainly in my 50 years-plus memory of seeing attorneys-general come and go, none has come close to being the progressive reformer that Moore was in his four terms as the state's chief law enforcement officer.

Time after time, the slender, wavy haired (a favorite target for cartoonists) ex-Jackson Countian took on unpopular issues, challenged entrenched political shibboleths and battled powerful "untouchable" forces.

And in almost every instance, he won. And the state was better off for it.

Against all the odds, and the opposition of then-Gov. Kirk Fordice, in 1993 he put together a team of private outside lawyers to tackle Big Tobacco and seek monetary redress for the industry's years of damage to the health of Mississippians done by their product.

The team of lawyers,

Chamber should promote business and social activism

Should the chamber promote business or social activism? That is the question posed recently by a citizen of Bay St. Louis in a letter to the editor. To be effective, it must do both.

In Hancock County, the chamber is the vehicle that gives all of us the chance to make a difference for our community and our businesses.

Through the chamber, our 800 members speak with one voice to address issues of concern to our community that affect our economy, social and civic well being. That is our mission.

Over the past decade, Hancock County has experienced a 35 percent increase in population.

This growth is expected to continue. As a community, we can either join together to prepare and protect our county, or we can sit back and let the community grow without direction or a plan.

We live and work here because we choose to. And, preserving what makes Hancock County a great place to live — like our beautiful Beach Boulevard — is the priority.

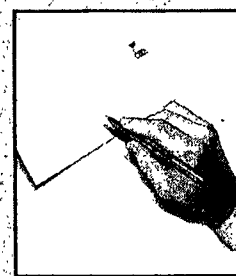

Beach Boulevard in Hancock County has been nominated as a scenic byway in Mississippi. Recently, a public meeting was held to provide information about what this could mean to Hancock County and to gain citizen input.

Unfortunately, misinformation created a negative environment that made it impossible to rationally consider the opportunities.

Letters to the Editor

Our letters policy

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes comments from its readers. Letters must be signed and include address or telephone number. Letters should be brief, preferably typewritten and double spaced. Only one letter per writer per month. The editor reserves the right to edit or reject letters. Letters of thanks, expressions of appreciation and political endorsements are inappropriate.

I can assure you, the Chamber is not advocating the designation of Beach Boulevard as a scenic byway. It is simply bringing an opportunity to the attention of the citizens to consider.

To learn more, I invite the community to go online to www.byways.org. Will this designation open the door to a wealth of resources or will it simply increase traffic? These are the questions to explore.

In short, as citizens, using the chamber as the vehicle, we can steer the growth.

To be successful, we must all work together in partnership to prepare the future of Hancock County and this region.

Any problem can be solved, when we involve the resources we have gathered around us to make sure the important things are not pushed out of the way by the urgent needs of the moment.

Sincerely,
John Chaszar
Vice-President, Hancock Chamber
Bay St. Louis

EHE students participate in reading fair

Several students from East Hancock Elementary participated in the district level reading fair hosted by Charles B. Murphy Elementary and came away with top honors.

In order to participate on the district level, the students had to place first, second or third in their category from over 400 reading fair projects at EHE. Judges ranked the projects on demonstration of the ten story elements, clarity and labeling, imagination of presentation, representation of real study and effort, portrayal of the concept of the book displayed on the board and overall visual appeal.

School level kindergarten winners were: Sarah Lyons-1st and Rebecca Jenkins-2nd. First grade winners were: Brellyn Hoda-1st, Dillon Malley-2nd and Madison Simmons-3rd. Second grade winners were: Hannah Stealey-1st, Preston Martin-2nd and Derick Fair-3rd. Third grade winners were: Leila Sabbagh-1st, Laura Yager-2nd and Clohe George-3rd. Fourth and fifth grade winners were: Eric Saucier-1st, Ashton Hourin-2nd and Nolan Bevis-3rd. Group projects K-3 were: Ms. Fos's class-1st, Ms. Giampaolo's class-2nd and Ms. Lee's class-3rd. Group project winners 4-8 were: Ms. Simmon's class-1st, Ms.

Minor -- Mike Moore

after amassing a huge volume of witnesses and evidence, in 1996 remarkably won an undreamed-of $4 billion settlement for the state from the cigarette industry that would anchor state health care funding for years and help bail out the strapped state budget.

Moore's historic case, helped by key testimony of an industry whistleblower, pierced the tobacco's previously impenetrable lawsuit shield and became the model for 45 other states to win settlements totaling $226 Billion.

Not long after he took office in 1988, Moore went after another sacred cow, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, successfully suing the corps to halt channel work in the Yalobusha River basin until environmental studies were made to justify the project.

He didn't hesitate to go after fellow Democratic officials and bar them from office for white collar crime.

Moore in the early 1990s forced the resignation of state Auditor Steve Patterson and powerful state Sen. Bob Montgomery of Canton for malfeasance. Meantime, he barred Sidney Barnett from taking office as Southern District Public Service Commissioner for taking contributions and cash from people regulated by the PSC.

While Moore frequently clashed with Republican Gov. Kirk Fordice, the two in 1992 found themselves on the same side on the issue of reviving the right of people to write or strike down state laws or constitutional provisions through initiative and referendum (I & R), a ballot power once held by Mississippians.

But the Legislature cut Moore's appropriation when he launched a move to get the state Supreme Court to restore the I & R constitutional power it suspended in 1916. His move failed. Two years later, however, an amendment to allow constitutional changes through voter initiative was submitted by lawmakers and adopted by voters.

After Fordice failed in court in 1994 to stop Moore from launching his lawsuit against Big Tobacco, the Kirkster attempted to retaliate by running his administrative chief of staff, Mark Garriga, against Moore in the next AG's race.

When the results on election night showed Moore had soundly defeated Garriga, Fordice said on TV that it was "the worst day of my life."

State lawmakers now tossing around the possibility of launching a state lottery as a new source of badly-needed revenue, likely don't remember that Moore was the prime mover 12 years ago in removing the 1890 constitutional lottery ban.

When Moore moved to crack down on video poker machines and to regulate bingo parlors, lawmakers were prompted to submit repeal of the lottery provision to voters, and it carried by a wide margin.

When Moore had the Jackson County Chancery Court to set aside $20 million a year from the tobacco settlement for use by him to launch his anti-smoking Partnership for a Healthy Mississippi in 1998, he encountered criticism from some legislators and media pundits.

But that criticism turned to praise when his anti-smoking campaign was documented last year to have reduced teen smoking by 30 percent and adult smoking by 25 percent.

Meantime, Moore has won national praise for his work with children through the Boys and Girls Clubs nationally and his establishment of a youth-mentoring foundation named Champions for Children. Reaching thousands of children, the program has provided $280,000 in scholarships to youths who mentor problem kids.

Many Mississippians, especially in the black community, are grateful to Moore for bringing to justice the slayers of two prominent 1960s civil rights figures. They had gone unpunished for 30 years. With major help from the AG's staff, local prosecutors convicted Byron De La Beckwith for the 1963 assassination of civil rights pioneer Medgar Evers, and former Klan Wizard Sam Bowers for the 1967 firebomb death of Hattiesburg NAACP leader Vernon Dahmer.

Certainly Mike Moore has left a legacy as Mississippi's most aggressive, activist attorney general with an amazing list of accomplishments.

Coach -- Hancock schools

"expanded responsibilities."

When he first took office as superintendent in early 2000, Ladner said he approached Rocky Gaudin, the head coach of athletics, about his intent to create the athletics director position.

Ladner wanted this position for several reasons.

He wanted an athletic director who could deal directly with athletic students that had discipline and/or academic problems, dispense student discipline to these students and help alleviate some duties for the principal.

All the athletic students with disciplinary problems, Ladner said, could be turned over to the athletic director, which would free up time for the principal to do his or her other duties like monitoring classroom instruction, working with teachers on professional development and acquiring resources necessary for his or her school.

Ladner said he informed Gaudin he would need to take some courses in order to be qualified for this position.

"To my knowledge, he never took a single course," Ladner said.

Gaudin said he told Ladner that he would try to take the courses. However, he said his coaching duties later limited the time he had to take such courses.

In an interview with The Sea Coast Echo, Gaudin said he did not see how having these credentials could help him do the job any better than he has been doing for the past 10 years. Gaudin pointed out that he was elected as the District 8 board member of the Mississippi Athletic Administrators Association.

Board members Peggy Ladner and Larry Seal, however, shared the board's reasons for requiring these credentials.

"It's not a matter of coaching but a matter of qualified administration," Ladner said. "Our decision to create the position of athletic director has nothing to do with an individual holding dual positions."

"Many athletic directors across the country also coach a sport."

Seal also said the issue is not about any one person.

"It is about structure and having a certified administrator oversee the athletic department just as we have certified administrators oversee other departments and schools," he said. "In my opinion, the issue is not about having the athletic director double as a head coach but moreso about a head coach evaluating and making employment decisions regarding his peers when he does not hold the proper certification as an administrator."

There's only one issue here, Ladner said.

"The position as it is now, allows the head coach of athletics to evaluate and make recommendations for the renewal and non-renewal of staff members and to hire new staff members,"

she said. "The head coach of athletics is not certified to do this, and in fact, has evaluated staff members who actually hold a higher certification than the head coach of athletics holds. I have continually expressed my concern with this situation beginning with my first year in office."

Ladner said board members wished to correct this situation by creating the position of athletic director.

"The position is required to hold a current Class AA 486 Administrator Endorsement, which permits the individual to recommend hirings, terminations, promotions and allows the individual to discipline students in accordance with district policy," she said. "It also allows the athletic director to work with all of the school principals and curriculum coordinators to develop and implement a district-wide physical education curriculum."

If Gaudin had the credentials, Seal said, then he "would certainly be given first consideration for the permanent athletic director position."

In other business, the board voted 3-2 to approve the revised student uniform policy for the 2004-2005 school year. Ladner said the board only approved some revisions to the policy with most of them being clarifications, which was a result of feedback received from teachers and administrators.

St. Joseph's Alumnae start monument fund

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

Alumnae of St. Joseph's Academy, Bay St. Louis, for years have been concerned about the school's history and important role it played in so many lives of former students.

A group of alumnae has gotten together this year, and have worked together with the generous assistance of the Hancock County Historical Society's executive director Charles Gray to come up with a plan to have a permanent memorial where the school once stood.

St. Joseph's Academy in Bay St. Louis opened in January, 1855 and continued to educate young women through high school, as well as boys through grade three until May, 1967.

The three story structure was demolished in 1973, where the new Our Lady of the Gulf Community Center now stands. The alumnae committee working on the project includes: Gaydell Cue Beyer, Beverly Arnold Cassanova, Mary Rose LaBruzzo D'Arcangelo, Carol Cabell Martinolich, Patricia Poolson Pitalo, Jeannette Monti Purchner, Rose Marie Cuevas Schaap and Frances Hewes Voelkel.

The committee is seeking the names and addresses of anyone who may have attended St. Joseph's Academy, Bay St. Louis at any point in their life.

A fund has been established with checks payable to: Saint Joseph's Academy Memorial Fund, c/o Jeannette Monti Purchner, 22433 Fabrian Drive, Pass Christian, MS 39571.

Permission has been received from Father Tracey, Our Lady of the Gulf Pastor to erect such a monument and restore Sister Albertine's statue of St. Joseph to its original beauty.

The target date is June, 2004 to have funds necessary to purchase the memorial marker and restoration the statue. A special dedication will be held at its installation, according to D'Arcangelo and Schaap.

A special dedication will be held at the monument's installation.

Chapel -- mass ends

After losing several priests in December due to illness, retirement, and one resignation, the Biloxi Diocese is now experiencing what many diocese have already been experiencing -- a shortage of priests to celebrate the Mass as well as a shortage of those who are called to the vocation of service. Our Lady of the Gulf and St. John the Evangelist (Gulfport) which both had three active priests at the beginning of December now have only one; and St. Paul's (Pass Christian) which had two active priests, now has one.

At present and for the foreseeable future, there is no one to take Johnson's place at St. Joseph's, said Rodi. The Pope advises that a priest celebrate no more than three Masses a day on Sunday, so with Father Michael Tracey being the only remaining active priest at Our Lady of the Gulf Church, taking over the Mass at St. Joseph's is an impossibility at this time.

St. Joseph's was opened originally to serve the Catholic population in the area and the seasonal workers who came to work in the canning factory owned by the Dunbar family at the north end of the Bay in the Cedar Point area. The chapel was established under the guidance of Our Lady of the Gulf pastor Father Le Duc.

Recently, volunteers and parishioners constructed a meditation walk in the wooded area at the back of the church parking lot. A wheelchair ramp was also added to the building.

Truck -- stolen

"Whenever I was out of the truck, I always locked it, so, the culprits had to have opened the door some way," Hurt said.

A host of law enforcement agencies including the sheriff's office, Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Departments and Mississippi State Highway Patrol, in addition to other law enforcement agencies, are searching for Hurt's truck.

Anyone with any information on the disappearance of the vehicle is asked to contact the sheriff's office at 228-467-5101, or 601-798-8555.

Diamondhead Democratic Club forms

The newly formed DIAMONDHEAD DEMOCRATIC CLUB, comprised of Precincts, 3 & 5, District 4, will hold a meeting on Monday, February 16, 2004 at the Diamondhead Community Center (Card Room) at 7:00 p.m. to discuss the Election of Alternates and Delegates to the Hancock County Democratic Caucus; the County Democratic Convention; the Congressional District (4)

Convention; the Democratic State Convention; and the Democratic National Convention. Anyone interested is invited. For information, contact Sue Halpern (255-5121) and/or Pat Nement (586-2356).

Hancock Women's Club to meet

The Hancock Women's Club will meet at the Depot in Bay St. Louis on Thursday, February 13, with lunch hosted by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Assistant Sheriff Ronnie Cuevas will present a program on Safety Tips for Seniors.

Following nominations from the floor, the Club will vote on the officers for the upcoming year.

The members are reminded to bring their tote bags and books ongoing "Bags 'N Books" campaign to benefit the children of Hope Haven and the Waveland Library.

Any lady in Hancock County interested in learning more about our Club and its interests, or for making reservations to the luncheon, please contact President Amelia Killeen at 467-0589.

SSC's Hoda is chosen for Mississippi All-Star classic

By Joseph W. Gex, II
Staff Writer
Matt Hoda, a senior full-back from St. Stanislaus, was chosen for the Bernard Blackwell All-Star Classic football game to be played in July. He will play on the South squad.

The 6-0, 240-pound runner pounded out 699 yards on the ground to lead the SSC rushing attack in 2003. He scored 9 touchdowns and had a long run of 35 yards as the Rocks advanced to the first round of the state playoffs.

For his career, Hoda rushed for 1,215 yards on 279 carries and scored 14 touchdowns.

Other members on the South Squad offense are QB Pat Barnes of McComb, QB Brett Hyatt of West Jones, RB Cordae Campbell of Meridian, Tony Miner of Jim Hill, Brandon Sumrall of Perry Central, WR Reco Crosby of Taylorsville, WR Shabazz McClellan of Gulfport, Darrell Williams of George County, TE Eric Griffin of Picayune, Damien Seals of McComb, OL Jacob Dykes of Ocean Springs, OL Josh Havard of George County, OL Phillip Kimble of Lawrence County, OL Matt Mandich of Oak Grove, OL Matt McBride of Laurel, OL Ollie Owens of Raleigh, OL Josh Yeager of Newton County.

Games postponed, but SSC, OLA, still headed to state

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
Staff Writer

Several area teams were in action this past week in basketball, soccer, and powerlifting.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws advanced to the state championship in soccer with a 5-0 shutout win over previously undefeated West Jones on Tuesday, February 3. Patrick Donohoe scored twice for SSC while Michael Kivlan, Andrew Smith-Parker and Austin Ladner each scored once. Sean Olsen recorded the shutout in goal. The win improves the Rocks' record to 23-3-1 and West Jones ends their season with a 19-1 record.

The #6-ranked Rocks will play #5 Pearl for the Class 4A state title on Saturday, February 14 in Pearl. SSC will be playing for its second consecutive Class 4A state title. Pearl defeated Florence 1-0 on Tuesday in a match that lasted 110 minutes.

On the hardwood, the #9-ranked Bay High Tigers (20-4, 9-0) swept a pair of games against D'Iberville (18-5, 6-3) on Tuesday, February 3. In the girls game, Bay High defeated the Lady Warriors 68-42. Kendra Reed poured in 25 points while Sara Gilmore added 13 points. Destiny Porter recorded a double-double with 12 points and 14 rebounds.

The state soccer title games scheduled for yesterday have been re-set for next Sat.

In the boys game, Bay High (17-7, 8-3) held on for a 86-79 win over the Warriors behind a quartet of double-digit scorers. Marquez Singleton led all scorers with 30 points. Lorenzo Lewis scored 17 points followed by George Easley with 15 points and Javon Williams with 14 points.

The Hancock Hawks split a pair of games with the Pass Christian Pirates on Tuesday, February 3. In the girls game, the #6-ranked Lady Hawks (20-3) routed the Lady Pirates (7-13) 79-23.

Hancock was led by Courtney Craft with 15 points followed by Brooke Necaise with 12 points and Petra Vackova with 10 points. Kellie Martin paced Pass Christian with 11 points.

In the boys game, the Pirates downed the Hawks 82-37. Billy Crawford led three Pirates in double-digits with 18 points followed by Brandon Miller with 16 points and Roscoe Forch with 11 points. John Childs dished out 9 assists.

On January 24, the St. Stanislaus powerlifting team recorded a win in the St. John Invitational Meet. SSC amassed 52 points to claim the win by one point over St. John with 51. Columbia had 37 points for third place followed by East Marion with 21 points and Mercy Cross with 14 points.

Phillip Bergeron won the 123-pound class with a total weight of 635 pounds (200/135/300) between squat, bench press, and deadlift.

Jeremy Burke claimed the 181-pound class with a total lift of 975 pounds (270/205/400). Jordan Ellis claimed the final first place spot for SSC in the 220-pound class with a total lift of 1,080 pounds (400/290/430).

Other SSC athletes claimed some high finishes to help SSC claim the championship. Chris Tran placed second in the 123-pound class, Kevin Schaumburg second in the 165-pound class, Lee Klein second in the 198-pound class, and Kace Mitchell second in the 275-pound class.

Third places finishes were Ben Rader in the 148-pound class, Matt Hoda in the 242-pound class, and J. C. Brignone in the 275-pound class. Ravi Varma and Caleb McQueen each placed fourth in the 148-pound class and the 242-pound class, respectively.

LABAT TATE

Labat Joseph Tate, Esquire, 57, passed away peacefully at his home in Pass Christian on Jan. 29, 2004, after a long illness that spanned more than a decade.

The son of the late William Augustus Tate and Adele Labat Tate, "Joe" as he was affectionately called, was born into a loving family in Bay Saint Louis. He received his earliest education through the Saint Rose de Lima Catholic Church and school and excelled as a student from an early age.

As a teenager, he attended Valena C. Jones High School where he served as captain of the basketball team. Upon graduation, he enrolled in Jackson State College in Jackson during the turbulent late 1960s, where he received a degree in history and political science and dreamed of becoming a lawyer. He fulfilled this dream by matriculating initially at Boston College

Law School in Boston, Mass., and ultimately receiving a law degree in 1977 from Georgetown University Law Center in Washington, D.C.

Joe was a brilliant man with a big heart who possessed many unique God-given talents. While a law student, he was the first African American to serve as head of the budget and finance committee of Georgetown University Law Center.

During his career, he practiced law in Mississippi; used his legal and business background extensively at Shell Oil, Mobil Oil, and Exxon in Houston, Texas; and provided love and friendship to untold numbers of adults and youth who he met along the way. An avid collector of American Jazz and Blues music, he is still known in some circles in Houston as "Dr. Jazz."

He was also a very spiritual man who spent most of his final years studying the Bible and World History and teaching others. He was in the process of writing a book. The most important role of all to him was that of devoted father and mentor to his daughter from a former marriage, having lived long enough to guide her through college and into the business world. All who knew and loved Joe will never forget this one-of-a-kind individual who always marched to the beat of a different drummer and left big footprints.

He is survived by his loving daughter, Alleson Diane Tate of Washington, D.C.; brothers, Alcide Tate and William Tate, and sister, Mary (Jennie) Johnson; god son, Gerard Joseph Limuel, all of Bay St. Louis; a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, and other relatives, friends and business associates in Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas; and surrogate parents, Jim and Gwen Lewis of Pensacola, Fla.

Services were held Saturday, Feb. 7, at St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis. Burial was at St. Mary's Cemetery in Bay St. Louis.

In his honor, a memorial fund has been established. Contributions may be sent to: J. Labat Tate, Esquire Memorial Fund, Hancock Bank, 265 E. Scenic Drive, Pass Christian, MS 39571.

NORBERT SCHUSTZ JR.

Norbert Joseph Schustz Jr., 71, of Kiln, died on Friday, Jan. 30, 2004, in Biloxi.

Happy Birthday Mother

Helen L. Carver
2/10/27 - 2/06/03

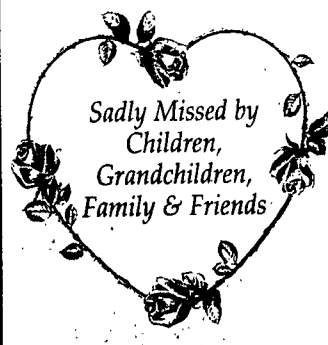

Dear mother, you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more;
Still in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.

In our hearts is a picture
More precious than silver or gold;
It's a picture of you, dear mother
Whose memory will never grow old.

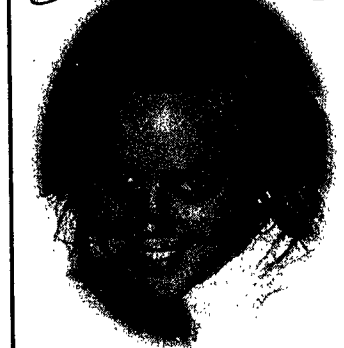

It was sad when death came
For father,
But saddest of all
When it took our precious mother.

To those who have their mother,
Treat her with tender care,
For you'll never know her value.
Till you see her vacant chair.

We dream of you, dear mother,
And see your smiling face,
And know that you are happy
In our Father's chosen place.

I'm FREE

Don't grieve for me, for I'm free.
I am following the path God has laid out for me.
I took His hand when I heard Him call,
I turned my back and left it all.
I could not stay another day,
To laugh, to love, to work or play.
Tasks left undone must stay that way,
I found that peace at the close of day.
If my parting has left a void,
then fill it with remembered joys.
A friendship shared, a laugh, a kiss.
Oh yes, these things I too will miss.
But be not burdened with the times of sorrow,
I wish you the sunshine of tomorrow.
My life's been such, I savor much.
Good friends, good times, a loved one touch.
Perhaps my time seemed all too brief,
Don't lengthen it now with undo grief,
Lift up your hearts and peace to thee,
God wanted me NOW, He has set me FREE.

You're still our angel,
Love,

NVision Solutions receives contracts

NVision Solutions, Inc. received notice of two contract awards totaling $6,000 from the MS-FAST program for Phase 0 Small Business Innovative Research (SBIR) proposals.

The competitive awards will provide funding that allows NVision to research, write, and submit SBIR proposals to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) to win a Phase 1 grant through the 2004 SBIR program. The Phase 1 SBIR grant would allow NVision to conduct research to establish the feasibility and technical merit of the project for consideration in the second round of the SBIR program.

"The MS-FAST program offers companies such as NVision a pre-submission glimpse of the competitiveness and completeness of our innovative research proposals. The program provides an invaluable service to companies that in the end fosters technological growth in the local and regional economy," stated Socorro Harvey, President/CEO NVision Solutions, Inc.

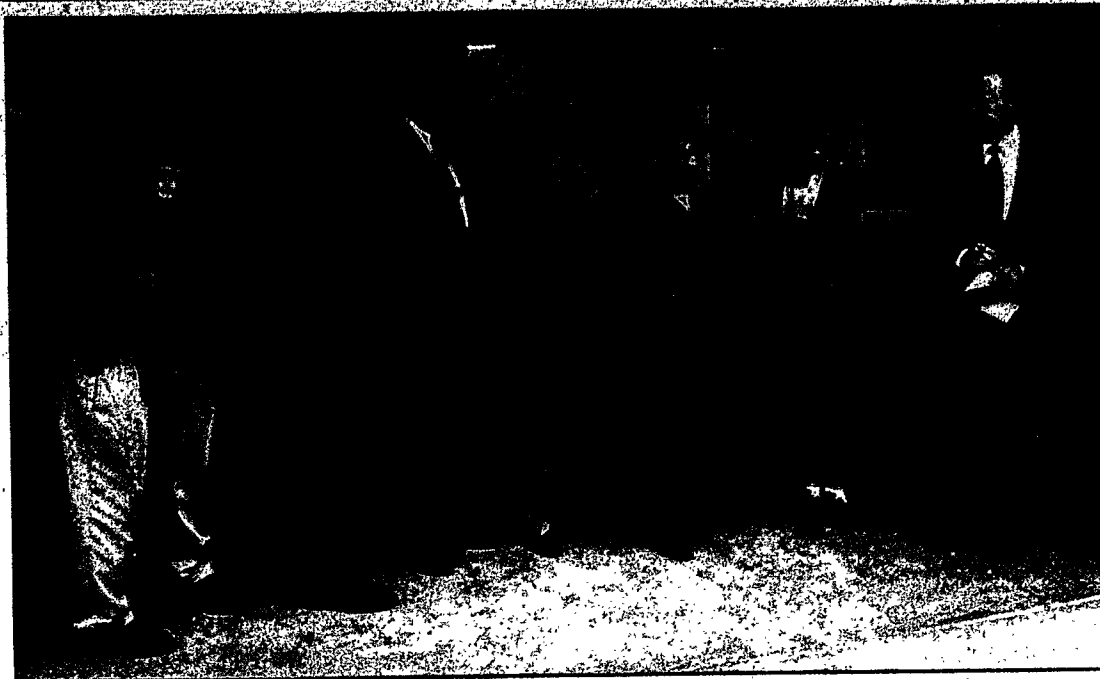

NVision's research topics are "A Real-Time Web-Based Data Processing Engine and Multi-Hazard Contingency Tool (MHCT)" and "Geo Data Stream." Both topics propose pioneering strategies using the Internet to answer challenges in the geospatial industry. The "Geo Data Stream" project seeks to design and create Web-based services for manipulating remote sensing satellite or aerial imagery as well as GIS mapping data. These services would save thousands of dollars in software and training for organizations that work with geospatial data.

NOAA is one of ten federal government agencies participating in the SBIR program including NASA which awarded NVision a Phase 1 research grant last year.

The MS-FAST Program is a federal and state technology partnership that includes the U.S. Small Business Administration, the Mississippi Technology Alliance, and a consortium of state universities lead by the University of Southern Mississippi. The MS-FAST program helps small businesses to bring innovative ideas and research to the grant proposal stage. MS-FAST reduces the economic burden associated with pre-proposal research and proposal development. It also conducts technical and content reviews of the final proposals for the small business.

NVision Solutions, Inc. is a small disadvantaged, woman-owned, minority-owned firm that specializes in advanced geospatial solutions and is an active member of Mississippi's geospatial technology industry cluster. It is headquartered at the Mississippi Enterprise for Technology (MsET) business incubator at Stennis Space Center and has a satellite office in Slidell, LA. For more information about NVision, contact the company at 228-688-3951 or visit their website at www.nvisionsolutions.com.

New Coast Electric center named in honor of Bernard Mutter, III

Coast Electric Power Association held a ribbon cutting and open house at its new Bernard A Mutter, III Service Center Thursday. The state-of-the-art operations center, located on Highway 603, near the intersection of Highway 43, Kiln, is named in honor of the late Bernard Mutter, II, who was tragically killed while on the job. Family members and hundreds of local business and community leaders attended the event. Mutter's 13 year old daughter Kristina cut the ceremonial ribbon, above, and cake, right, along with his mother, Mary Lou and father Bernard Mutter, Jr. The new facility will streamline operations and help maintain Coast Electric's status as a preferred energy provider. ## Jobless rate up slightly

BY DEBORAH BULKELEY JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi's jobless rate was up slightly in December but remained below the national average.

December's unemployment rate was 4.7 percent, up from November's 4.6 percent. The seasonally adjusted jobless rate was 5 percent.

The national jobless rate was 5.4 percent in December, with a seasonally adjusted rate of 5.7 percent.

Most counties saw their jobless rate rise slightly, although 33 counties matched or bettered the state average. Rankin County's unemployment rate of 2.1 percent was the lowest in the state, followed by Lamar with 2.3 percent. The highest jobless rate was 14.8 percent in Jefferson County, followed by Sharkey with 14.3 percent, and Issaquena with 14.1 percent.

Manufacturing was up 600 jobs from November, with 179,900 people working in the sector, however there were 5,700 fewer jobs in the industry since December, 2002.

Seasonally affected employers, such as construction and agriculture, saw their rates decline because of the winter weather. Retail jobs were up as employers added workers for the holidays.

According to the MESC, the jobless rate tends to rise in January because of post-holiday layoffs in retail, and winter weather that continues to hinder construction and farming.

Bay St. Louis mayor Eddie Favre, right, and Gulfport mayor Ken Combs confer during a Mississippi Municipal League luncheon Wednesday in Biloxi. The group was on the Coast to update local officials on their efforts to get the state legislature to pass a Mississippi Optional Sales Tax bill (MOST). If the bill was to become law, it would enable local cities and counties to give citizens the opportunity to vote on sales tax increase of up to 3/4 of a cent to pay for a specific local project specified on the ballot. Favre, who is also president of MML, stated that Bay St. Louis could use the revenue to pay down debt and save the city money and possibly prevent a property tax increase. It would take a 80% majority to pass a local option sales tax if it came to a vote. The tax would end when the specified project was paid-off. (Echo photo by publisher Randy Ponder)

A Belated Happy New Year's Wish

There was a time when my birthday was a joyous event. Now I am surprised that it happens at all.

From Days of Joy and Woe, Willy Murke, 1803

I know it's February and I'm a little late, but please accept my wishes for a Happy New Year. I hope you are well and have recovered from the realization that the world is now officially a little bit older.

Perhaps using "officially" is a little strong. It seems a little audacious of we humans to make a big deal of our count of each lap of the earth's circuit of the sun; it's as if we had something to do with it. The earth had made millions of such laps before we even came on the scene - with no celebrations and our celebrating New Year is sort of like a new flea on a greyhound yelling "We Won!" when the dog wins his 364th race.

But then maybe our celebrations are not for a "We Won" but more that we're just glad we made it around again.

It does seem at times that we are lucky to have made it. Especially, given the ever increasing ways we have thought of to insure that eventually, one of these laps will lack having us as celebrants. So perhaps our yelling "Happy New Year!" makes sense after all.

But to balance these dark thoughts, there are other times of the year, times when we find all about us the multiple joys of our being here, times when we stand surrounded by the warmth of our own personal lives. These times arrive sometimes suddenly, sometimes loudly, and sometimes so softly that we turn about and find that they are there and have been with us for a long time.

These times have no fixed sequence, no set mark in a year's calendar to celebrate. But they come nevertheless and give a sense of collective elation to each of our years.

Perhaps what we truly celebrate at the end of each year is both the past years joys and the prospects of such wonders in the coming year.

Late, almost evening, on a cool day not long ago, I walked on the beach near our house. The sun had already set behind some clouds. Already the light from one moment to the next was changing. The change was so subtle that it appeared gradual, but I knew it wasn't, that it would soon be dusk, then dark.

Close in, over the shoal water, a white egret flew by, its flapping wings looking like some fluttering handkerchief being waved by an unseen hand. It's a very pretty trick they do and I always feel as if I am witnessing some magician's sleight-of-hand.

There are gulls that do a similar flutter. These gulls have black-tipped wings and when group goes by doing their synchronized flutter, their black tips momentarily cloak each bird's body. The result gives a strobe-like illusion to their flight, as if all the birds disappear then reappear in alternate microseconds. Blink they're there;

blink they're not.

Magic. Holly and Jennie had joined me on my walk and Holly, sensing it was time for us to return to the house had come out from behind the cover of the sand fence and joined me. In doing so, he started his senseless intertwining weaving between my legs. I've learned to ignore him when he does this. But I stood still. I didn't want to trip and besides, it felt good.

I called Jennie who stopped and looked back from where she was a little farther down the beach. Satisfied that I hadn't turned back as yet, she ignored that call and a second one continuing to run and sniff along the sand's edge.

She has learned to listen to the tone of my calls and has fine-tuned her responses to just before that exact moment when I'm about to become enraged. That evening, as always, with exquisite timing, she turned at my fourth call, and raced back. Her return was accompanied by a cloak of such obvious happiness that any anger on my part melted and the three of us started our slow walk back in the long shadowed light toward the house.

And so now we have another year.

All of us are adrift on a sea of time of which this now is so small. And yet it is all we have. That evening should have gone on forever, but didn't. And the two that accompanied me won't as well. But the two of them are here with me now as they were then when we reached the house in the dimming light.

There is still much time spread far ahead of us; we can go back and walk the beach again on some tomorrow.

May you and those you have enjoyed another year.

VFW midwinter conference news

VFW Ladies Auxiliary Department of MS President Sue Richard presided over Midwinter Conference in Biloxi at the President Broadwater Hotel.

Linda Meader of Concord New Hampshire National Chaplain of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars represented national president Evelyn McCuen. Linda Meader, was elected National Chaplain of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States at its 90th National Convention in San Antonio, Texas, on Aug. 29, 2003. She is now in the third of five offices leading to the national presidency, which she is expected to hold in 2006-2007.

Linda is eligible through her father, Edward C. Colby, who served in the U.S. Army in the South Pacific during World War II.

She has served in many positions on all levels of the organization, including Auxiliary President at age 19. As district and state president, Linda was named Outstanding President of the Year. She served as captain of Alliance State Color Guard and three terms each as State Secretary and state Chief of Staff on the national level Linda was appointed ed Americanism & Loyalty Day director and Junior Girls Units director, and was elected National District Council Member No. 1.

The Ladies Auxiliary VFW has always played an important role in her life. Linda's parents joined the organization when she was an infant and before she was old enough to join, she worked on buddy poppy drives, suppers, bake sales and marched in parades carrying the name banner for the auxiliary.

With a bachelor of arts degree in paralegal studies and a minor in business, after graduating Magna Cum Laude from Notre Dame College, Linda is the Legal Administrator of a two-office law firm performing both paralegal and managerial duties.

Linda and husband, David, have a daughter, Bridge, who is the 4th generation of her family to serve as Concord Auxiliary 1631 President.

Cindy Shoemaker, represented District 1 and VFW Ladies Auxiliary 3253 Bay St. Louis. President Cindy serves as page to Department of Ms. Senior Vice President Betty Moot of Hattiesburg, Cindy also is Department of Mississippi Publicity Chairman.

Project American Wounded is collecting items for our military

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The items will be sent to the Landstuhl Regional Medical Center Hospital in Germany, the hospital to which all of the wounded in Iraq are transported.

The Pastoral Services Chaplain's Staff will receive and distribute donations.

At the present time, the wounded are transported from Iraq or other areas to Germany with only the clothes on their backs. They arrive with nothing. The program will provide these men and women with clothes and other basic necessities.

Your donations should be mailed to the following address:

Landstuhl Regional Medical Center-Hospital
Attn: Pastoral Services
CSR 402
APO AE 09180

The following donations will be gratefully accepted for members of the military wounded in Iraq now hospitalized at Landstuhl Hospital in Germany. The program administrators ask that the clothes be new or serviceable and clean.

Shower Shoes
Razors
Deodorants
Burger King Gift

Certificates
Trial size shaving creams
T-shirts

Duffel bags gym shoes
back packs
boxer shorts

sport bras
sweatsuits
socks

books and other reading material

gloves
sweaters
winter hats jackets

men's and women's shoes, mostly men's sizes 9-15, (with Velcro for those whose hands are bandaged)

OR
Those who wish to make a monetary donation can do so in the form of a check made out to:

USAREUR Chaplain's Fund

Dan Ellis books to highlight Second Friday Book Club

Books by Dan Ellis, local historian and author, will highlight the Second Friday Book Club's discussion on Friday, February 13, at 10 a.m. at the Kiln Public Library. The Second Friday Book Club is cosponsored by Gloria Burette and the Kiln Public Library. The book club originally began meeting on the first Friday of every month, but moved to the second Friday to accommodate members. Each month the group discusses a different book, normally books from the best seller list. The book club is open to anyone each month with no requirement that you have read the book in advance.

More information is available by calling the Kiln Public Library at 255-1724 or Gloria Burette at 255-9097. The library system can be accessed through the World Wide Web at www.hancock.lib.ms.us. DialPac, the automated catalog, can be accessed via home, business or school modem by dialing 463-0024.

Bay-Waveland Middle School parent meeting

The Arts hosts annual meeting

THE SEA COAST ECHO

More than fifty people attended the first Annual Meeting of The Arts, Hancock County Mississippi held at the Bay St. Louis Hancock Library. Bay St. Louis Councilman James Triffley, Hancock County Election Commissioner Gary Gilmore and Chris LaGarde, representing Congressman Gene Taylors's office, were among those in attendance. Before the meeting members enjoyed coffee and cake while socializing and listening to Frankie d'Angelo on the guitar.

One of the first items on the agenda was the presentation of the slate of names for new Board members: John Chaszar, Sally Johnson, Chuck Ueltschey and Teri Wyly. Since there were no additional nominees from the floor, a vote was taken and the nominees were elected unanimously. Gwen Impson, President, welcomed the new Board members and commented how each brings to the Board valued experience. "Having a community leader, such as John Chaszar, a experienced CPA, such as Sally Johnson, someone skilled in economic development, such as Chuck Ueltschey, and noted attorney Teri Wyly on our Board of Directors is essential to the success of The Arts."

Angela Sallis, Secretary, presented another first: the official Membership Roster which listed members both alphabetically and by art medium.

The organization's first Annual Report was presented and it chronicled the initial stages of development in 2002 and the list of accomplishments in 2003 month by month. The report also included a summary of the consensus building efforts, the planning grant from the MS Arts Commission, and the treasurer's report.

The Annual Report also showed that from April, when applications were first taken, to the end of December, there were a total of 122 members: 63 from Bay St. Louis, 31 from Waveland, 11 from Diamondhead, 2 from Pearlinton, 5 from Kiln, 5 from Pass Christian and 6 elsewhere. There were 92 individual members, 9 business memberships, 15 friends of the arts, 1 art group, and 5 patrons.

Susan Crane was introduced as the Editor for "The Arts Letter", the new quarterly newsletter, and Kathy Holland was named to head a new Membership Committee. Both of these are efforts to better communicate with members. Schonda Sweeney, Web Site Administrator, announced the new, much easier to remember web address: www.hancock-art.com.

Claire Haun described how The Arts is partnering with the Bay St. Louis Little Theater in raising funds for the renovation of the historic theater. Twenty of the chairs removed from the theater will be painted and embellished by 20 artists using themes from past plays. These chairs will then be auctioned off as works of art at the theater's Spring Gala with proceeds split between both organizations.

Another partnership was announced with the Boys and Girls Club. Charlene Stinson and Richie Santiago explained how the arts are of the five components in their program to build confidence and self-esteem in the children in the program. They stated that they were impressed with the diversity of arts represented in The Arts organization and invited artists to volunteer their talent and skills.

Announcements were made in regard to The Lattimer Project, a play performed at Serenity Gallery, and a upcoming screenwriting workshop in March in conjunction with BayArts 2004. A musical performance entitled "Accordion Pyrotechnics", is planned for April 3 and is sponsored by Mississippi State University, the City of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County School Board and The Arts.

A new schedule of meetings were outlined for 2004 with a new format. General membership meetings will be held quarterly: January, April, July, and October. In the intervening months Focus meetings will be held with a different type of art as the focal point. This format will give individuals the opportunity to network with others in their art field and introduce still others to that particular field of art. For example, in February Liz Schaffer will lead a meeting focusing on the various types of Painting. The March meeting will focus on Poetry and will be led by poet, Gail Mollring. Other meetings being scheduled will focus on Photography, Clay, Quilting, Water-media, Sculpture.

Details on upcoming meetings will be announced in the newspaper, on the bulletin boards at all Hancock County libraries and on the web site. For more information about becoming a member of The Arts call 467-1007.

Notice to Public:

Diamondhead Water and Sewer District ("The District") on the 15th of January, 2004 made the following amendments:

Water Rate Ordinance:

Section 3.3.4. In the event that a water bill is past due, such customer shall be billed a late fee in an amount not to exceed 1.5% of the bill or ten dollars ($10.00) per month, whichever is greater.

Section 9.1. This amended ordinance shall be effective as of March 15, 2004.

Sewer Rate Ordinance:

Section 1.9. In the event that a sewer bill is past due, such customer shall be billed a late fee in an amount not to exceed 1.5% of the bill or ten dollars ($10.00) per month, whichever is greater.

Section 4. 1. This amended ordinance shall be effective as of March 15, 2004.

A full copy of the ordinances as of February 2, 2004 is on file in the office of the District and is available for inspection Monday-Friday from 8AM-4PM.

Notice to Public

Diamondhead Water and Sewer District ("The District") on the 15th of January, 2004 made the following amendments:

Water Rate Ordinance:

2.1. Residential Users

2.1.1. Metered water up to 4,000 gallons ----- $17.64 / month
(minimum flat rate) Plus $1.31 per 1,000 gallon over 4,000 gallons per month

2.1.2. Unmetered water use ----- $17.64 / month (flat rate)

2.1.3. For users/or owners who disconnect or turn off the water, and who remain owners of record of the property, the minimum flat rate of $17.64 / month will be charged for three months. After that period, the owner will be charged a flat rate of $8.50 for debt relief of the District. This debt relief payment will be required indefinitely as long as the water service is available to the owner.

2.2. Commercial Users including Motels

2.2.1. Metered water up to 10,000 gallons ----- $38.01 / month
(minimum flat rate) Plus $2.10 per 1,000 gallon over 10,000 gallons per month

2.2.2. Unmetered water use ----- $38.01 / month (flat rate)

2.2.3. SPECIAL SMALL COMMERCIAL USER CLASSIFICATION:

Users of less than 1,000 gallons per month with no more than two (2) fixtures, i.e. sink and toilet, not for public use, that use or are capable of using water, will be charged a flat rate of $45.10 per month for water and sewer combined. The user shall be subject to periodic inspection, audit, and fixture count by the District. Any user under this provision that is delinquent in any payment due the District will not be eligible to be classified under this Special Small Commercial User Classification, and will be charged the full commercial rate.

9.1. This amended ordinance shall be effective as of April 15, 2004 billing.

Sewer Rate Ordinance:

2.1.1.1. Metered Residential: Twenty-seven dollars and forty-six cents ($27.46) for the first four thousand (4,000) gallons, plus $3.41 per 1,000 gallon for usage between 4,000 and 8,000 gallons. No additional charge will be imposed for usage above 8,000 gallons of water as metered.

2.1.1.2. Unmetered Residential: Twenty-seven dollars and forty-six cents ($27.46) per month flat rate.

2.1.1.3. Metered Commercial: Thirty-five dollars and seventy cents ($35.70) for the first 1,000 gallons plus $8.66 per 1,000 gallon for usage between 1,000 and 5,000 gallons, plus $5.25 per gallon for usage above 5,000 gallons.

2.1.1.5. Special Small Commercial User Classification: Users of less than 1,000 gallons per month with no more than two (2) fixtures (sink and toilet), not for public use, that use, or are capable of using water will be charged a flat rate of forty-five dollars and ten cents ($45.10) per month for sewer and water combined, subject to periodic inspection, audit, and fixture count by the District. Any user under this provision that is delinquent in any payment due the District will not be eligible to be classified under this Special Small Commercial User Classification, and will be charged the full commercial rate.

4.1. This amended ordinance shall be effective as of April 15, 2004 billing.

A full copy of the ordinances as of February 3, 2004 is on file in the office of the District and is available for inspection Monday-Friday from 8AM-4PM.

THE BITTER WATERS OF MARAH!

WHEN MOSES LED THE ISRAELITES OUT OF EGYPT HE WAS BESET BY PROBLEMS ALMOST IMMEDIATELY! NO SOONER HAD HE CROSSED THE RED SEA WITH HIS PEOPLE AND FOUND HIMSELF IN THE WILDERNESS OF SHUR THAN HE HAD TO FACE THE PROBLEM OF NO WATER! THE PEOPLE WENT FOR THREE DAYS INTO THE WILDERNESS AND STILL COULD FIND NO WATER! THEN ON THE FOURTH DAY...

...AT LONG LAST, THEY CAME UPON WATER, AND THE JOYOUS ISRAELITES RUSH FORWARD TO SLAKE THEIR THIRST!

WE CANNOT DRINK OF THIS WATER - AUST WE DIE?!

WHERE NOW IS THE LORD TO HELP US?!

...BUT CRIES OF JOY SOON TURN TO HOWLS OF OUTRAGE, AS THE BITTER WATER IS NOT FIT TO DRINK! THE PEOPLE TURN UPON MOSES, ADDING THEIR OWN BITTERNESS TO THE GRIM SITUATION!

The All-time MVP

"An undeclared national holiday, the biggest event of the year for most of the country, the most-celebrated, most-viewed event of the year, an extravaganza watched by families, restaurant and lounge customers, special on-site, mega-screen televisions in large venues, even church group bashes."

Thus speak commentators, talk show hosts and columnists with perhaps a slight tinge of hyperbole, but expressing beyond doubt most of the reality of the sports phenomenon which is grabbing harder and harder for icon status.

Yes, taking on a life of its own, the Super Bowl has evolved year by year into the premiere sporting event of these United States. Even world football, better known as soccer, despite its exceedingly great numbers of followers, does not have such mystique, tailgating, sumptuous feasting and celebrating.

Although many individuals and groups need no excuse for partying hard, the Super Bowl is indeed a ready-made, extremely popular excuse for a prolonged picnic, family and friends get-together and hearty partying.

"More than 89 watched the game," one radio newsman

Reflections

on Life

by Father Jerome

slipped, obviously intending to say more than 89 million. Can you even imagine what kind of national Sunday worship that would be if 89 million Americans worshipped?

Actually, that is only part of the statistics, since 89 measures only the units contacted. Multiply 89 by X to account for families and groups who watch at venues with super screens. How would that do for Sunday worship?

In a real sense, Super Bowl Sunday is a quasi-religious experience, with its hype and preliminary celebrations running through the whole week and peaking at fever pitch with "A Taste of the NFL" on the Saturday night.

If it was anything like the New Orleans Super Bowl superbash last year, the Houston version splurged beyond the real with a sea of appetizers, palate teasers, salivating foods, exotic drinks and intoxicating music.

Driven feverishly by the ever-rising ante of one-upmanship and the growing urge to push the envelope to unknown and unimagined frontiers, the Super Bowl committee became a victim of its own bad hire, MTV, which climaxed lewd dancing with the baring of Janet Jackson's breast.

Clearly, once the smoke had cleared, CBS would have given anything to have the media do just a fifth of the rehash of the sparkling Super Bowl as they did of the errant bare right breast. The latter dominated all talk shows.

As at all recent Super Bowls, 30-second commercials, with their $2.3 million tab, amply rewarded sponsor CBS. Though some were funny and memorable, none rivaled the shock and awe of Justin's dirty move on Janet.

In the play of the day, a publicity-starved streaker, who thought he was quarterback, made a naked bootleg to the right sporting only his jock strap until he was leveled by the numbing tackle of a Patriots' linebacker.

Imagine the extreme dismay of CBS to witness the spectacular play of two well-matched NFL teams completely overshadowed by the bald saga of a fleeing jock strap and a bouncing boob exposed by a bit of violent chicanery. Surely, this was no way to conduct a quasi-religious celebration.

But what else could they expect after hiring the raw-sex-oriented MTV which promptly got down to the lewd, lascivious, ungodly business of shaking their moneymakers in the most provocative ways possible?

In its version of the Hajj, the Muslim sacred pilgrimage to Mecca, the NFL pays its annual devoted tribute to what has become the premiere sport of the USA. No religion could or would do it with more care and love.

Can there be any doubt that no religion could afford to do it with equal money and resources? It was abundantly clear that money was no object to the NFL while it conducted the most hallowed ceremonies of its mission in life as the anointed bellwether of the good news of the kingdom of sports.

On a much lesser scale, money was likewise no object to the adherents of the sports kingdom, as they shelled out big bucks to be part and parcel of the marquee celebration of the year in the world of sports. On the higher end of fandom, travel, posh hotels and scalped, inflated tickets spelled big money.

Time was no object either, as both the NFL itself and its frenetic, loyal constituents gladly surrendered hours and days dedicated to the celebration of their interpretation of life to the full. One hour grudgingly given in the conduct of a church service was multiplied many times for the Super Bowl.

More than anything else, this unbridled NFL outpouring of funds, time and resources is the expression of ultimate futility of a secular religion trying desperately to define and proclaim the glories of life to the full for all.

They just don't get it. Perhaps one day they will understand that there is but One who can and does give life to the full. The Master of life and death, the all-time MVP in all things, and the Reason for all celebrations, assures us in John 10:10: "I came that they might have life and have it to the full."

Scripture Says . . .

By Ed Young

Who rules your life?

There is a part of a human being that is not often mentioned. This part of us usually rules us daily. It's called the "natural man." This disobedient part of us, is unruly and ungodly. The Bible usually refers to that part of our make up as "The Flesh."

This is the nature we inherited from our first parents when they became disobedient to God. Like it or not it is a part of our inner most being.

Paul writes to the churches in Galatians. Now the works of the Flesh, are these, Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, Idolatry, sorcery, hatred, strife, jealousy, wrath, factions, seditious, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, reveling and the likes of which I told you before, as I have also told you in times past. That they who do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God. Galatians 5: 19, 21

Now when a person becomes born again, he receive the Spirit of Christ. Now we receive not the spirit of the world, but the spirit of God. I Cor. 2:12

Nevertheless the flesh and the spirit struggle against one another daily. It's a on going event until the day we leave this life.

We all have a nature that is not interested in the things of God. Self, flesh, natural man is all one in the same.

Even though the born again believer confesses a Christian belief. His flesh many times over powers his spirit. The struggle is a on going event.

The devil use's the weakness of man to down trodden him. The flesh and the devil wait at the door steps everyday.

Prayer, bible, reading, gathering to hear the word preached will strengthen the spirit that's in man. Who rules today?

The "Word" for the Week
God is Love

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Many couples are engaged on Valentine's Day; many weddings are performed on Valentine's Day; and many marriages are consummated on Valentine's Day. It's a time for love.

Actually, it is a time for sentimentalism, which is all too sloppy. Every day is a day for love. We readily confuse the two.

Valentine's Day is a day for card companies to make a buck. They do. Every day is a day for love.

Valentine's Day is another day for florists to flourish. They rake in the cash too. Every day is a day for love.

Valentine's Day is a day for sweet school programs, red hearts, white lace, smiles, and some blushing. Every day is a day for love.

Valentine's Day is a day for special dates and candlelight dinners. Every day is a day for love.

Valentine's Day is a day to remember your sweetheart. Every day is a day for love. Come to think of it, if we did not reserve the hearts and flowers for February 14 and lavish our love on that special person every day of the year, our world might be far different. Perhaps we have forgotten the root and source of love. "God is love" (1 John 4:8).

Sloppy sentimentalism practiced once a year is a poor substitute. More than that, we do not know the difference between love, gratifying others, and lust, gratifying ourselves.

Hancock High teacher takes 'marine' vacation

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Some people take vacations. Teacher Shani Bourn takes marine biology.

She is now working on her third degree from The University of Southern Mississippi. The Hancock High School environmental science teacher describes herself as a "USM junkie," and ocean and coastal sciences provide her fix.

Bourn is a regular in both the teacher workshops at Southern Miss, Scott Aquarium in Biloxi and the intense courses offered through the summer marine sciences field program at the university's Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs.

"Last summer I took marine mammals, sharks, elasmobranch biology, marine ecology, and marine law and policy at the GCRL," she said. "Elasmobranch biology had a blast with that course."

Bourn's first course through the GCRL was a coastal ecology for teachers course at Scott Aquarium in 1994. As part of her master's degree program, she took the course under Dr. Sharon Walker, administrator of the aquarium and professor of coastal sciences.

"I fell in love with her excitement, enthusiasm and extreme expertise," Bourn said. When Bourn was an undergraduate, she met another of her mentors, Dr. Shelia Brown, now also with the Southern Miss aquarium.

"I still pull out material from that coastal ecology class and use activities from it. It is tried and true. Anything they (Walker and Brown) do is of high quality and gives me lots and lots of information," Bourn said. "As a teacher, I need information from different areas.

I enjoy science and enjoy teaching so much, I want to make sure my students have a good base."

Bourn admits she also just likes learning new things. "My mom noticed that with both my master's and doctorate I go charging after the science courses. Then I backtrack and do the education classes. I like to get my knowledge first and then get my education classes to learn how best to get that knowledge across to my students."

By the end of this summer, her courses at the GCRL should complete her residency requirement as she works toward her doctorate in science education with a coastal sciences emphasis. At the lab, most of Bourn's classmates are science majors. There was a time, she said, when science majors looked down on education majors; never at the GCRL, though, she said. "Fellow students are more enthusiastic, encouraging me to keep on learning."

Now in her 12th year at Hancock High, she also teaches aquatic science and zoology, earned her National Board Certification in 1999 and is adjunct faculty at Pearl River Community College. With her vast repertoire of science courses, Bourn has no worries about meeting the state requirements for a "highly qualified" status under the national No Child Left Behind program.

College courses are one of several options for teachers working toward "highly qualified" status, and Bourn offers her perspective about opportunities for teachers at GCRL and Scott Aquarium.

"Be aware that GCRL is rigorous," she said. "For a breadth of knowledge, choose courses that cover a number of areas. General courses like coastal ecology for teachers give you knowledge of the geological, chemical and physical oceanography, aspects as well as of relationships among the living organisms. The same applies to the course on ecology of seagrasses that I took the summer of 2002. It gives you useful bits and pieces of different aspects of marine systems."

At Scott Aquarium she especially enjoys workshops targeting specific areas. There, too, the opportunity for college graduate credit is available to teachers who take a number of different workshops.

"Deep sea corals and methane seeps are hot topics now," she said. "Taking those kinds of workshops helps me keep up with new discoveries."

Bourn is already booking her summer with the lab, looking forward to invertebrate zoology and coastal vegetation.

"Academically, you shouldn't earn your master's and doctorate from the same university, but I needed something close to home. When the time came to look for a Ph.D. program, Southern Miss was close, and I like the science ed mixture that the (Southern Miss) Center for Science and Mathematics Education delivers. It is just enough education that I stay abreast of research and procedures, trends and policy, and I really, really enjoy the pure science classes."

And that, she said, moves her closer to her ultimate goal: "to help my students gain useful knowledge of the environment around them, but even more important, to gain an appreciation of the natural world. Things can be around you all the time, and you may never realize how fragile and unique they are."

A Medley of Romance at BSL Casino Magic

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Casino Magic Bay St. Louis is offering romantic dining specials, spa treatments and the most played love songs of the last 30 years on Valentine's weekend, February 13 and 14.

There is a variety of romance to be found when you getaway for a night's stay at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis. Choose from a romantic champagne dinner for two at the Jourdan River Grille or Bienville's Bay Buffet. Restaurant reservations are not necessary. Try a relaxing couples massage or salt bath for two at Spa at the Bay. A wide variety of other soothing treatments are also available. You can make your appointment today by calling 469-2650! Then, treat your Valentine to a once in a lifetime performance, "A Tribute to the Righteous Brothers" featuring Bill Medley at 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday February 13 and 14.

Following the death of band-mate Bobby Hatfield in November, Medley and his Righteous Brothers crew have chosen to go on touring in his memory. The concert will feature such romantic Righteous Brothers hits as, "You've Lost That Lovin' Feelin'," "(You're My) Soul and Inspiration" and "Unchained Melody," as well as Medley's hits like "(I've Had) The Time of My Life" from the movie Dirty Dancing. Tickets are available for $19.95, $24.95 & $29.95 at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or through any Ticketmaster outlet. Must be 21 to attend.

Keep the romance alive and getaway for Valentine's weekend at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis.

'Ohr-iginal' clay workshop

THE SEA COAST ECHO

At Ohr-O'Keefe Museum of Art 2004 is the "Year of Japan." Asian influences on American ceramics, particularly those from Japan, have been major sources of insight and inspiration for artists and potters. Japanese ceramics have been strongly influential in the United States for well over a century.

The first events of 2004 are two workshops sponsored by the Japanese Foundation. The workshops will be led by two modern masters of pottery from Japan, Kouji Sugie and Peter Seabridge. Kouji Sugie is a native of Japan.

#1: Intensive Twelve-Day Clay/Anagama Workshop (Hands on)

Master Classes with Kouji Sugie and Peter Seabridge

Monday, February 16, -

Friday, February 27, 2004

#2: Sugie and Seabridge:

Two-Day Tokoname

Workshop (Observational)

Saturday, March 6 and

Sunday, March 7, 2004

#1 Intensive Workshop

(hands on)

The first workshop will be a 12-day Intensive Master Class Session with Kouji Sugie and Peter Seabridge. The first week will focus on hands-on experience in the pottery studio, followed by a week of loading and firing one of the few anagama kilns located in the United States. An anagama kiln is unique because wood is fired for an extended period of time. Ash from the burning wood makes its own glaze for the pottery. The word "anagama" comes from the Japanese words "ana," meaning "hole" or "cave," and "gama," meaning "kiln." The price for this 12-day session is $650 per person; $625 for seniors, full-time students and members of Ohr-O'Keefe Museum of Art. There is a deposit of $325 upon registration. Space is limited for the unique experience of hands-on work alongside two masters from Japan. The registration deadline is February 2, 2004.

#2: Observational Workshop

The second workshop is a two-day Tokoname Workshop in which participants can observe, participate in question and answer sessions, and learn from the two Japanese master potters as they demonstrate the traditional clay techniques of the Tokoname style. The price for this workshop is $100; $75 for seniors, full-time students and members of Ohr-O'Keefe Museum of Art. The registration deadline is February 13, 2004.

Brian Nettles, studio potter at Ohr-O'Keefe Museum of Art, will lead all aspects of the workshops and, in fact, will host the loading and firing aspects of the 12-day workshop with his recently constructed anagama kiln. Nettles' Studio is located in nearby Pass Christian, Mississippi.

The "Live! From Japan: Two Modern Masters of Tokoname Pottery" exhibition will feature pottery made in these workshops. The exhibition will be held in the Lila Wallace Gallery from March 5 to May 29, 2004. Register online at georgeohr.org or call Shirley at 374-5547 ext. 24.

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Known for his role on Jerry Springer, hypnotist Denny More and Joe Miller will be twisting things up and making audiences jump with laughter during their extreme comedy routine at Imperial Palace Hotel and Casino February 3-7, 10-14, 17-21, and 24-28 in the Imperial Showroom.

More started in the entertainment business as a magician at the age of 13. He became friends with a New Jersey hypnotist and discovered his E.S.P.- the ability to read minds. In 1985, he met Joe Miller who is now his manager. Together they keep the crowd laughing with their duo performance. In 2002, Jerry Springer was searching for the country's most outrageous hypnotist. The show chose Denny More because he was a perfect fit. He is also recognized as one of America's funniest hypnotist and the "bad boy" of the hypnosis world.

Catch one of his hilarious and unpredictable shows Tuesday-Thursday at 9 p.m. and Friday and Saturday at 8 and 10 p.m. Admission is FREE. Must be 21 to attend the performance. Mardi Gras has a long and storied past d'Iberville, set up a camp about 60 miles south of the future La Nouvelle Orléans, he named the site "Pointe du Mardi Gras." It was apropos, since the date was March 3, 1699, Mardi Gras day. The Europeans brought their carnival customs, and Creole society was soon masking and dancing at private balls while revelers in disguise roamed the streets.

When the French explorer, Pierre le Moyne, the Sieur

The year 1837 marked the first documented procession of masked revelers in New Orleans. By the mid 1840s, the carousing and drunken streetcapades had grown so wild, relatively sober citizens lobbied to ban all public carnival celebrations.

But six men from Mobile, where Mardi Gras celebrations had been held as early as 1708 and parades since 1831, stepped in. Together with 13 New Orleanians, they founded the first Mardi Gras organization and named it for a reference to "Comus with his crew" from John Milton's poem, "A Mask Presented at Ludlow Castle." In Roman mythology, Comus was the god of mirth and revelry. A follower of Dionysus, he was represented as a drunken youth bearing a torch. In Milton's poetic masque, Comus is a rascal, the son of wine god Bacchus and Circe, daughter of the Sun.)

With a little whimsy and archaic spelling, the Mobile Six formed the Mistick Krewe of Comus, and in 1857 they paraded by torchlight on Mardi Gras evening on two mule-drawn floats.

They decided the parade wasn't enough. The Krewe of Comus wanted something grander to celebrate Mardi Gras, so they formed a secret society in keeping with their Masonic origins, and issued 3,000 invitations to a ball which became the event of the year for New Orleans society. The first queen of Comus was Mildred Lee, daughter of Confederate general Robert E.

Mardi Gras in N'awlins has something for everyone

Experience the pageantry, lunacy of Carnival in the city

BY GEOFF BELCHER

We're lucky here on the Coast. We have some spectacular

Mardi Gras events, kicking off with the Krewe of Selene parade at Diamondhead (and later, appropriately enough, the Krewe of Diamondhead parade), leading into the pomp and circumstance of the Krewe of Nereids carnival ball and parade in Waveland; the manic energy of the St. Paul Carnival Association parade in Pass Christian; and the creative majesty of the Krewe of Real People parade in Bay St. Louis on Fat Tuesday.

Certainly, you don't want to miss out on any of that, but if you're feeling a little adventurous, you owe it to yourself to — at least once in your life — experience that inspired gumbo of the sacred and the profane: Mardi Gras in New Orleans.

Nowhere else will you find such an eclectic blend of piety and lunacy, pageantry and licentiousness.

DON'T BE SCARED.

Despite what the sign-toting zealots proclaim all across the city on Fat Tuesday, Mardi Gras is not the breeding ground for evil you may have heard about.

Yes, there are some things going on that aren't for young eyes (or older eyes, either, for that matter), but if you know where to go and use some common sense, you should make it through the experience without too much trauma. First of all, know up front that Bourbon Street should be completely off limits to kids and those who are easily offended — of course, it's that way all year long.

The rest of the French Quarter should be relatively safe, as long as you stay in the well-populated areas between Canal St. and Ursulines, from Decatur to Royal. Royal St. is where a lot of the locals hang out (with some spill-over from the Bourbon St. madness), and that's where you'll find some of the more entertaining (and inoffensive) costumes.

It's also much easier to walk down Royal than Bourbon, which is shoulder-to-shoulder from Saturday night after the Endymion parade on through Fat Tuesday at midnight.

If you'd like to experience Mardi Gras but are afraid of the crowds, the week before is filled with parades and Carnival-related events, but with far fewer people — just enough to make it fun.

There are plenty of points on the parade routes where you can set up without paying a dime — just be sure to bring food and refreshments.

Checking in with JoAnna Garcia

By Jacqueline Cutler

JoAnna Garcia is giddy in love. The actress, who plays Cheyenne in The WB Network's Friday-night series "Reba," just returned from a vacation in Hawaii with her boyfriend, tennis pro Bob Bryan.

"It rained the entire time," Garcia says. "It's a good thing we are so in love because it didn't matter."

She is serious enough about Bryan that she brought him home for Christmas to meet her parents. "It's so nice to have somebody doing well with what they are doing," she says. "And it is so incredibly different. He is so supportive of me, and when we are out at events, he is there for me and not running off and trying to make contacts."

Reba McEntire approves as well, which delights Garcia. "Reba is a huge part of which movie I chose last summer," Garcia says, "and why I broke up with my ex-boyfriend, and a big supporter of my current boyfriend."

As a child, Garcia dreamed of becoming a professional tennis player. Her family loves the game so much, they traveled the globe attending tournaments.

By age 10, however, acting took over. "My parents were very leery," she says. "They made it an extracurricular activity for me. Once I started really working, things took off."

After trying college, Garcia knew it was not for her. She convinced her parents to let her move to Los Angeles with an older cousin. "The first day I got out here, I was offered a movie with John Ritter," she says.

"I want to be a wife and a mom more than anything," Garcia says. "I hope one day the eye of the tiger will be for the family, and I will be blessed enough to do a couple of things a year and to have it all."

Featured 'Tupperware!' bowls over viewers

By Jacqueline Cutler
 © Zap2it

It was the burp heard around the world.

That Tupperware burp, signifying food is stored air-tight, began when Earl Tupper invented the Wonderbowl in 1945. It became a success six years later, when he hired Brownie Wise.

The story of their business partnership and how plastic home wares changed postwar American women is told in "Tupperware!" on PBS, Monday, Feb. 9 (check local listings).

Tupper had figured out how to use raw polyethylene, developed for weapons, into food containers. Meanwhile, Wise, who had a hardscrabble life, minimal education and was a divorcee with a young son, was a natural marketing genius in home sales. She and a partner sold Wonderbowls, but demand outstripped supply, so she talked Tupper into relying exclusively on home sales.

The two were a formidable team. Wise inspired her troops, gave them incentives, taught them how to sell at home parties and rewarded their success.

Older women who had weathered the Depression recall how selling Tupperware afforded them a sliver of the American pie. Some had modest material goals; others supported their families.

This fun documentary also serves as a guide to many 1950s women, back from the factories where they toiled during the war. Now relegated to the home, they tried newfangled gadgets and the pastel-colored plastic wares fit perfectly into this time.

Wise staged elaborate jubilees for Tupperware staff. The documentary captures the delightful goofiness of the jubilees with home movies. As Wise became a star and the first woman on the cover of BusinessWeek magazine, Tupper's ire grew. He fired her in 1958. Within a year, he sold the company for $16 million, divorced his wife and bought an island in Central America.

History meets renovation on 'This Old House'

By Monique Skotnicki
© Zap2it

If you have at least $1 million to spend on housing, prefer to pay a hefty import tax instead of income tax and have no problem trading your second car for a scooter, Bermuda is hard to beat. Just ask residents Michael Douglas and Catherine Zeta-Jones.

And that's not even taking into consideration that the island, which has a population of 62,000, is the No. 1 wreck-diving destination and boasts more golf courses per its 21-square miles than anywhere in the world. Add warm weather, pink sand, turquoise waters, rich cultural history and its proximity to the United States (650 miles east of Cape Hatteras, N.C.), and it's no wonder that master carpenter Norm Abram, host Kevin O'Connor and the rest of the crew of "This Old House" are delighted the subject of the show's second international project is a house in Bermuda.

The long-planned renovation and expansion of the circa 1805 Georgian-style structure, owned by innkeepers Delaey Robinson and Andrea Dismont, is particularly challenging. It's located across from their business, Aunt Nea's Inn, in the town of St. George, which shares its designation as a UNESCO World Heritage Site with such treasures as the Taj Mahal and Yellowstone National Park. This means no fewer than four agencies are monitoring the project to ensure adherence to strict guidelines intended to preserve the historical integrity of the house's exterior. Their task undoubtedly is made easier by the four 24-hour webcams capturing the work in progress. New episodes chronicling the project begin Thursday, Feb. 12, on PBS (check local listings).

Harbour View, as the house is known, was one of several options pitched to the show by Bermuda's Tourism Department. But the unique set of challenges presented by Robinson's former bachelor pad - including roof damage from Hurricane Fabian in September, window frames coated in lead paint and the multiple permits required - proved irresistible.

"No one wanted to get on the roof because they were afraid the slate would slide off," local architect Colin Campbell explains. "Because 'Old House' is here, it accelerated the renovation of this space."

Looking up at a roof full of exposed beams with chunks missing, holes covered by tarps and slate visible through the timbers, Campbell says, "A lot was done with extraordinary care and not a minute too soon. They look scarier than they really are."

Campbell is on site to shoot a scene for the second episode, in which he goes over previous and future representations of floor plans with O'Connor. As cameras roll, he explains the plan to restore the building to its original color and form and then start the transition, which includes adding a two-story addition that will connect a guesthouse to the main house.

Robinson and Dismont are responsible for the cost, and a 12-man crew eats up money very quickly, even with the insurance settlement and donations from companies (a list of contributors is available on the show's Web site, <http://www.thisoldhouse.com>).

Still, Dismont is determined not to become overwhelmed. "I'm trying to just relax," she says. "I've got all these professionals. It's their stress."

Indeed, a bit of stress can be felt on the set as the number of takes for the scene between O'Connor and Campbell grows. The dialogue is unscripted, and when O'Connor gets a little wordy, he's interrupted by Russ Morash, the show's crusty creator, executive producer and director. "Zip the lip," he says. "Can you say that in three words?"

The action begins again - footage is free-flowing, with no cuts in-between - and this time, O'Connor is too loud.

"A little tensed up, Kevin?" Russ teases. "Are you mad at us? The love is gone."

That, in fact, is hardly the case, despite O'Connor's observation that "(Russ) tells me I'm an idiot." There's an easy camaraderie among the cast and crew, and Abram and O'Connor spend some downtime discussing renovations to the latter's house. It's the same house whose wallpaper problem led O'Connor, who was working in sports finance, to write in and ultimately be hired as host 10 months ago.

"What's not to like about this?" O'Connor asks during a side trip to the quarry where the slate for the roof is made. "You just can't beat this gig. I was a fan of the show all my life, and all of a sudden they're asking me to be host. They treat me like a little brother, like they've known me forever. They bust my chops."

Indeed, when a door unexpectedly slams behind Abram and O'Connor during a scene the next day at the job site, Morash jokes, "What would be really good is if you took the chain saw from yesterday (at the quarry) and cut your way in."

Abram gets his share of teasing as well. Upon hearing that he was up on the roof helping the workers, Dismont jokes, "Norm laid a slate? Mark that one. Oh, there's a leak? Call 'This Old House.'"

Later, there's more ribbing when a tailor comes to the site to do some alterations on Abram's suit jacket for an event. "Shouldn't I get something after 25 years?" he protests. "Last time I got that treatment, Esquire did a shoot and I was in a tuxedo - 'James Bond Dressed to Drill.' But before Abram fans go frenetically searching through old issues, the magazine apparently never ran the photo."

Q I loved ABC's "DreamKeeper." What can you tell me about Sheila Tousey and where could I write to her? She brought me near to tears! -Mary in Anchorage, Alaska.

A Born in Keshena, Wis., Tousey - who played Janine in the recent ABC TV movie - is a Menominee and Stockbridge-Munsee American Indian, and grew up on both the Menominee and Stockbridge-Munsee reservations. She began Indian dancing as a child, but didn't perform on stage until she attended the University of New Mexico, where she initially planned to specialize in federal contracts and Indian law.

During the course of her education, she began taking theater arts courses and eventually changed her career paths. Upon graduation, she moved to New York to continue polishing her craft on stage. After directing her in his play "The Late Henry Moss," actor-playwright Sam Shepard declared Tousey "a great actress with a lot of guts."

Beyonce helps pace nominees for Grammy Awards on CBS

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

The 46th Annual Grammy Awards could turn out to be one "Crazy" night for Beyonce.

One of today's top female music stars - make that one of today's top music stars, period - she's in the running for six of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences' honors, to be handed out during an earlier-than-usual CBS telecast Sunday, Feb. 8, from Staples Center in Los Angeles. Also leading the pack with six nominations are Beyonce's partner on her brassy hit single "Crazy in Love," Jay-Z, as well as OutKast and Pharrell Williams.

"Crazy in Love" is up for Record of the Year, competing against "Clocks" by Coldplay, "Hey Ya!" by OutKast, "Lose Yourself" by Eminem, and "Where Is the Love" by the Black Eyed Peas and Justin Timberlake. Beyonce's tune also earned her bids for Best R&B Song and Best Rap/Sung Collaboration. She's also nominated for Best Female R&B Vocal Performance for the song "Dangerously in Love" and Best Contemporary R&B Album for the entirety of the same-named release, her first solo effort apart from the group Destiny's Child, as well as for Best R&B Performance by a Duo or Group With Vocals (in tandem with Luther Vandross for the album's cut "The Closer I Get to You").

Also factoring in her rendering of the national anthem at last weekend's Super Bowl, it has been an amazing year for Beyonce by any standard. She considers her presence in the Grammy categories the ultimate payoff. "I never imagined being nominated for so many," she says. "It feels really special because I worked so hard on the album, and being my first solo record, it was kind of like starting all over. It's just unbelievable to be so acknowledged for it."

Beyonce particularly appreciates being considered for the Record of the Year award. "It's amazing, because I was so nervous about the song. I switched what the first single would be a couple of days before I turned in the album. I didn't know if people were going to quite get 'Crazy in Love'; I had let a couple of people hear it and got only mediocre reactions. I thought maybe I was a little off, because I loved it, but I went with my instincts. It just has this energy from the second it begins, and what happened with it was just huge."

Indeed, Beyonce knew that the first time - or, more to the point, times - she heard it on the radio. "I heard it like 20 or 30 times," she marvels. "They just kept playing it over and over, and I was like, 'Are you serious? This is crazy!' I thought I must have made the right choice, and it felt good."

Though her success has expanded her horizons into movies ("Austin Powers in Goldmember," "The Fighting Temptations"), cola ads and hair-care endorsements, Beyonce hasn't lost sight of what brought her fame. "I work really hard on my music," she says, "and that includes writing and producing it. For 'Dangerously in Love,' I went to Miami, away from any distractions. I stayed in a little hotel with a recording studio downstairs. I'd go to sleep, and whatever time I woke up, I'd go downstairs and record whatever ideas I had. It was a great experience, because I really challenged myself."

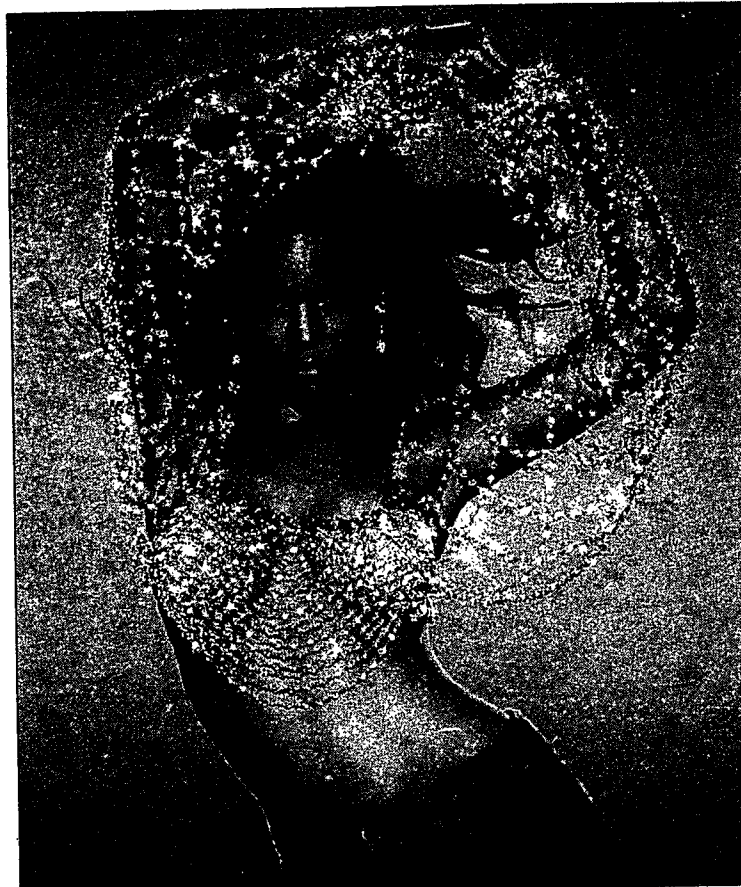

The process allowed Beyonce more creative flexibility than she'd had in her earlier days with Destiny's Child, in which she remains teamed with Kelly

Rowland and Michelle Williams. "We'd do all our records in two weeks," she recalls, "so they were really rushed. On 'Dangerously in Love,' I really took my time and basically just played around with things."

Beyonce anticipates taking the same approach when she gets around to making her second solo album, though "Dangerously in Love" still has a while to play out. "It's only been out about eight months," she notes, "even though it feels a lot longer. I'm on the third single, 'Me, Myself and I,' which is one of my favorite songs on it. The album just has so many different types of music. It really let me grow as a singer and a songwriter. I just did everything I've always loved."

With a white-hot career that has made her instantly known even without her last name, Knowles, Beyonce says she has been able to keep her focus. "It took me a couple of years," she says. "The first single (with Destiny's Child) came out when I was 15, and back then, I didn't really understand about keeping balance. Now I know the importance of that. I make sure I have time for my family and for the things that make me happy, even though I'm happiest when I'm on the stage doing my music. You have to stay true to the other things that are important to you, so that you can remain humble and keep the quality of life you had before you became a celebrity."

Beyonce is also keeping her ties to Destiny's Child. "We're going back into the studio together in May," she reports, "and my new challenge is to figure out our sound. We've all done solo albums that sound completely different from one another, so it's going to be exciting. It'll be a great experiment."

Beyonce is among the top contenders for the 46th Annual Grammy Awards, with six nominations stemming from her first solo album. The ceremony will be televised Sunday from Los Angeles on CBS.

Dean Cain dramatizes the Laci Peterson murder case

By Jay Bobbin

He doesn't know Scott Peterson's mind, but Dean Cain had to try to put himself into it.

Television's former "Superman" portrays the California man accused of killing his wife, Laci, and their unborn child in "The Perfect Husband: The Laci Peterson Story," a USA Network movie premiering Friday, Feb. 13.

The teleplay starts on Christmas Eve 2002, when eight-months-pregnant Laci was reported missing, and follows related events up to Scott's arrest last April. Composite characters played by Sarah Joy Brown ("General Hospital") and David Denman "narrate" the film.

Among other familiar figures represented are Sharon Rocha, Laci's mother, played by Dee Wallace Stone ("E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial"); Amber Frey, Scott Peterson's now-former girlfriend, portrayed by Tracy Lynn Middendorf ("24"); and Ron Grantski, Laci's stepfather, played by Peter Jason ("Seabiscuit").

"I turned this down at first," Cain reveals. "I was concerned about the content and about my association with it. I discussed the project with my father (film director Christopher Cain) and he said, 'Is it a complex character?' I said, 'Yeah.' He said, 'Can you be good in it?' I said, 'Yeah, actually. I think I can be very good in it.' Then he said, 'Are you an actor?' I said, 'OK, Dad, I get your point.' I have to agree, that's the right way to approach it."

"People talk about micromanaging careers," Cain adds, "whether to take this role or that role - and the reality is that you look for roles that are interesting and good. This turned out to be a wonderful experience, which was a surprise to me."

Like millions of other people, Cain has heard many reports about the Peterson case during the past 13 1/2 months. "Our first day of shooting was the first day of (Scott Peterson's) preliminary hearing, so I went home and turned on CNN to check out the day's events, and there it was. Every day during filming, when I went home and just before I went to bed, I'd see the new developments. It was like they were doing our work for us."

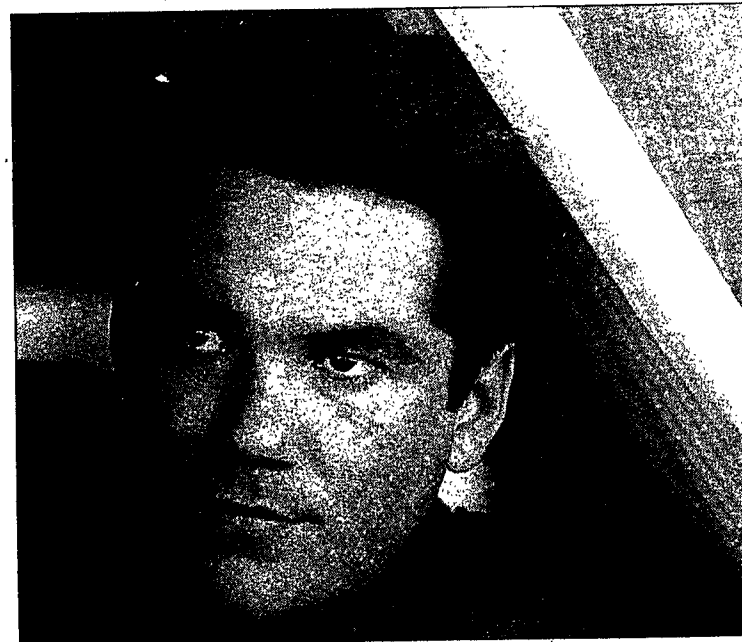

"I didn't have to strip away everything I knew about the case to play this. At certain times, I knew he was lying, like when he was asked if he had been untrue to his wife. As far as his guilt or innocence in the murders goes, I don't know any more than anyone else. I just played him as innocent and confused as best I could. As an actor, I think he looked very rehearsed in interviews he gave, but that can be daunting if you're not used to it."

Cain deems using fictionalized characters to frame the movie "a very effective tool for telling the story. It's not so much about whether Scott Peterson is guilty or innocent, but about believing someone is a certain way. In this case, he fooled a wife, he fooled a family, he fooled a community - he basically fooled a nation for a while. In truth, he was somebody completely different."

Typically cast as heroes since his four seasons in "Lois & Clark: The New Adventures of Superman," Cain feels Scott Peterson is a good follow-up role to Cain's image-busting performance as a brutish husband in last year's Denzel Washington movie, "Out of Time."

That film, Cain says, was "great for me. I'm also guilty of thinking of actors only playing specific kinds of roles. I don't blame people for thinking that way, but actors can play a lot of different roles."

Dean Cain moves away from the heroic image to play murder suspect Scott Peterson in the new TV movie "The Perfect Husband: The Laci Peterson Story" Friday on USA Network.

Talent, not competition, the draw at All-Star

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

All-star games have always been popular with fans.

After all, where else can one see so many of the greatest players in the world on the field, court or ice at the same time? Never mind that what you're seeing is a faint representation of the sport, played by athletes more concerned about avoiding injury than performing well. The best is, after all, still the best.

This week, it's the NHL's turn to trot out its top players as the 54th All-Star Game takes place Sunday, Feb. 8, from Xcel Energy Center in St. Paul, Minn. ABC airs the action live.

Three members each from the Dallas Stars and the defending Stanley Cup champion New Jersey Devils were chosen as starters for the West and East, respectively. Dallas sends winger Bill Guerin, center Mike Modano and goaltender Marty Turco to Minnesota Sunday, while Devils goalie Martin Brodeur and defenseman Scott Niedermayer represent New Jersey. The other Devils' starter, defenseman Scott Stevens, most likely won't play because of post-concussion syndrome.

Rounding out the East starting lineup are Boston Bruins center Joe Thornton, and wingers Ilya Kovalchuk of the Atlanta Thrashers and Martin St. Louis of the Tampa Bay Lightning. In the West, the other starters are winger Todd Bertuzzi of the Vancouver Canucks, and defensemen Nicklas Lidstrom of the Detroit Red Wings and Rob Blake of the Colorado Avalanche. At press time, reserves had not yet been announced.

Bill Clement, who will provide play by play alongside Gary Thorne and John Davidson on the ABC game telecast, feels that while All-Star Games may not have a reputation for being the most competitive, they do have a certain artistry to them. "The one thing that everybody's got to understand is if you're looking for something compelling in a competition sense, you're going to be waiting a long time in an All-Star Game," he says. "It's more showcase of talent and skill and the beautiful aspects of our sport. And I think regardless of the format, those things are going to show through, because it is the most skilled, the most talented players and nobody's trapping out there. So when people say, 'What are we going to do to jack up the intensity level?' Guess what. Last year was fantastic. When that game was tied near the end and they played overtime four-on-four, it was almost as intense as a regular-season game. Honest to God, it might have been as intense. Nobody wanted to lose at that stage. So it was fantastic. But it's always going to be a showcase of skill and talent more than it is a compelling example of competition."

Last year's game in Sunrise, Fla., was indeed an exception to the rule, as forward Dany Heatley of the Thrashers had four goals and one assist in regulation, then scored another during a shootout, but the East lost to the West in an exciting contest, 6-5.

Heatley, a dynamic young scorer, will miss this year's game while continuing to recover from injuries sustained in a tragic car accident that claimed the life of Thrashers teammate Dan Snyder. But other young stars such as Kovalchuk and St. Louis will be present, and Clement can't wait. "I'm just really thrilled," he says. "The Atlanta fans - and other fans - voted (Kovalchuk) on. He is the most dynamic scorer in the NHL today, he and Rick Nash from Columbus. So, it was great to see young guys like Kovalchuk and Martin St. Louis, who to me, is one of the great bang-for-the-buck players in the NHL. He is truly an exciting athlete to watch. ... But it's great to see the kids, St. Louis and Kovalchuk, in, and because of the franchises too - Tampa Bay and Atlanta - I think that says something about their franchises, too. They're on the map."

Placing three members of the defending champs on the East's starting squad is also a significant development in Clement's mind, as the Devils have always seemed to play second or third fiddle in a New York-area market where the Rangers and Islanders have a strong, and at times, rabid following. "As successful as the Devils have been, they're still kind of 'America's Anonymous Team,'" he says. "For their fans to vote three players to the starting lineup for the East, I think, is a great comment on the depth of the Devils' fan base, at least in the state of New Jersey."

"PGA Golf" Sunday, Feb. 8 (CBS, 3 p.m. ET): The PGA Tour's West Coast swing continues with the final round of the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am, from Pebble Beach, Calif. It's a tournament that's become known for dramatic Sunday comebacks, particularly the last three years when Tiger Woods, Matt Gogel and Davis Love III all rallied to win on the last day. In fact, Love last year became the first 54-hole leader to end up winning since Brett Ogle in 1993.

"NFL Football" Sunday, Feb. 8 (ESPN, 7:30 p.m. ET): The NFL's season officially ends - marking the start of the always busy offseason - with the 34th Pro Bowl, which celebrates its 25th anniversary at Aloha Stadium in Honolulu. Marvin Harrison, Steve McNair and Jamal Lewis are among the starters for the AFC, which aims for its fourth straight win, while the NFC starts on offense with the likes of Daunte Culpepper, Ahman Green and Torry Holt at the skill positions.

"NASCAR Racing" Saturday, Feb. 14 (NBC, 12 p.m. ET): On the eve of the Daytona 500, NASCAR drivers take turns on Daytona International Speedway in the Hershey's Kisses 300, which begins the Busch Series' season. NASCAR's "minor league" is coming off its greatest season, both in terms of TV ratings and attendance. It also enjoyed its tightest championship chase, with only 49 points separating winner - and youngest champion ever - Brian Vickers from the next three finishers.

Sunday

10:30 a.m. on TBS

Movie: Dave

"The Prince and the Pauper" gets a populist spin in this 1993 political comedy about an ordinary businessman who fills in for the U.S. president when the commander in chief is incapacitated. Once in office, the double charms everybody — even the president's wife. Kevin Kline plays the dual role. Sigourney Weaver, Frank Langella and Ben Kingsley co-star.

11 a.m. on HBO

Movie: Wild America

In 1967, armed with a movie camera and a dream, three brothers from Arkansas cross the country getting up close and personal with bears, moose and other critters. Scott Bairstow ("Party of Five") stars as eldest brother Marty Stouffer, who grew up to host the long-running series "Wild America." Devon Sawa ("Robin of Locksley") plays middle sib Mark, and Jonathan Taylor Thomas ("Home Improvement") plays the youngest, Marshall, who narrates the movie.

7 p.m. and TBS

Movie: Ever After

Drew Barrymore lights up the screen in this 1998 retelling of the Cinderella story set in 16th-century Europe. Her character, Danielle, has the requisite wicked stepmother (Anjelica Huston) and dirty domestic job, but she has far more pluck and determination than the usual fairy-tale heroine. Dougray Scott ("Deep Impact") plays the prince, with Patrick Godfrey as Leonardo da Vinci, the closest thing this version of the story has to a fairy godmother.

Monday

9 p.m. on 19-PBS

Hot Dog Program

It's as American as apple pie, and as diverse as America itself. Producer-writer Rick Sebak ("An Ice Cream Show") travels the country to sample the many regional variations of the humble hot dog, from Southern-style with coleslaw to Chicago's version of the works. Proprietors of hot-dog stands from New England to California speak frankly about the special place the simple sausage sandwich occupies in our hearts and tummies.

Thursday

8 a.m. on USA

Movie: The Brady Bunch Movie

It's a sunshine day in the world of the overly perky Brady family until an unscrupulous developer attempts to seize their property. The Bradys must work together to save their home before it's too late. Shelley Long and Gary Cole head the cast as the parents. Michael McKean, Jean Smart and Christine Taylor also star.

Friday

7:30 a.m. and HBO

Movie: Stay Tuned

Some viewers really get into their favorite TV programs, but none actually get into their television — until Roy and Helen Knable (John Ritter, Pam Dawber). When Roy is tricked by a devil (Jeffrey Jones) and signs his soul away in exchange for a satellite system, he and Helen are sucked into their TV set. It's up to Roy to get them out of the endless parodies and sitcoms in this 1992 comedy. Eugene Levy, Heather McComb and Bob Dishy co-star.

TV Trivia

Josh Hartnett ("Pearl Harbor") spent five days in boot camp at the U.S. Army Rangers training grounds to prepare for his role as a soldier.

Oded Fehr ("The Mummy Returns") spent four years in the Israeli army working in intelligence prior to pursuing acting.

Christopher Plummer ("The Insider") disliked being cast in "The Sound of Music," although the movie spawned many more roles.

Dean Cain ("The Perfect Husband: The Laci Peterson Story") suffered a knee injury just days prior to playing his first NFL preseason game.

Anne Hathaway ("The Princess Diaries") was the first teenager to be accepted into the Barrow Group in New York.

Sunday Best Bets

6 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Movie: Pearl Harbor

The assault on the Hawaiian military base is re-created by producer Jerry Bruckheimer and director Michael Bay in this big-scale 2001 drama. Ben Affleck and Josh Hartnett play pilots in love with the same woman (Kate Beckinsale), but that's just a prelude to the real show: an effective re-creation of the attack. Cuba Gooding Jr., Jon Voight and Jennifer Garner co-star.

6:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Oliver Beene

The comedy series about a Queens, N.Y., youngster growing up amid the idealism of the early 1960s begins its second season with "Soup to Nuts." Grant Rosenmeyer continues to play the title character, an 11-year-old whose adult take on his life are voiced by David Cross ("Arrested Development"): Grant Shauld ("Murphy Brown") and Wendy Makkena ("Sister Act") play Oliver's parents, and Andrew Lawrence portrays his brother.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

The 46th Annual Grammy Awards

Many of music's top stars gather at Staples Center in Los Angeles for the yearly ceremony that honors tunemakers. Missy Elliott, Evanescence, OutKast, Justin Timberlake and White Stripes are in the running for album of the year. Other major nominees include Beyonce, Eminem, Jay-Z, 50 Cent, Luther Vandross and the late Warren Zevon. Carole King and piano impresario Van Cliburn are among those receiving special honors.

episode "Family Reunion." His excitement over the event dims as true colors are revealed by various visitors, including an older brother (Glynn Turman) who questions Bernie's parenting skills, and an aunt (Anna Maria Horsford) who wants Bernie to do a cooking show with her.

8 p.m. on HBO

Sex and the City

As the award-winning comedy series moves ever nearer to its finale, the new episode "Splat!" forces Carrie (Sarah Jessica Parker) to consider abandoning the life she has known when Aleksandr (Mikhail Baryshnikov) asks her a very important question. Miranda (Cynthia Nixon) reveals her misgivings about Aleksandr. Charlotte (Kristin Davis) has a chance to get maternal.

7:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The Bernie Mac Show

It's all in the family for Bernie (Bernie Mac) as he orchestrates a gathering of many of his relatives in the new

All My Children

Aidan was angry with Mia for letting Fred escape from the pump house. After Kendall accused Greenlee of deliberately bringing Fred to the court-house to sabotage her defense, Ryan ended his friendship with Greenlee. Kendall then accused Ryan of conspiring with Greenlee against her, prompting Ryan to walk out on her. Greenlee revealed a damaging secret in the courtroom. Hurt when Bianca told her she's leaving Pine Valley and wants Lena to go with her, Maggie came on to Jamie and they started to make love until Adam had them arrested for breaking into his limo. Bianca told her secret to an overwhelmed Erica, who realized that Jack knew all along. Coming: Erica fears she killed Michael.

As the World Turns

Mike found out that Simon was behind the shooting at the church and realized that he set it up so Katie would go with him. After Katie and Simon made love, she told Mike that she knew what Simon did and forgives him. However, realizing that he can't protect Katie, Simon left and refused to take her. Rosanna begged Carly for help in leaving with the baby after she found out that Cabot's adoption wasn't legal. Paul got Molly to tell him everything she knows about the adoption, after which Paul turned Craig over to the cops. Coming: Mike tries to comfort a distraught Katie.

Bold and Beautiful

Massimo told Jackie that he's heeding Eric's words about the danger of his jealousy and is making more time for her and his family. Seeing Ridge, Brooke painfully admitted that she still wants a future with him, but right now she has to deal with her pregnancy. As Ridge considered leaving Logan Designs because it's too painful for him to work with Brooke, Clarke urged Ridge not to quit, while Eric encouraged him to return to Forrester rather than work for Marone. Jackie welcomed Brooke into the family at a special dinner, while Nick urged Brooke not to feel rushed or pressured by his mother. Coming: Ridge tries to put his life in order.

Days of Our Lives

Marlena shifted suspicion off herself when she was identified as the doctor who visited Tony just before he died. Later, Marlena, tormented by anger and guilt, looked through a scrapbook of her victims, and almost confessed to John before finding him comforting Kate. When Marlena learned that Celeste is close to naming the killer, she had Celeste brought to her for a 'session.' Sami kissed Lucas in order to irritate Kate, but had to admit she has real feelings for him when Lucas accused her of doing it to annoy his mother. Nicole handcuffed herself to Brady so that when the killer strikes again, she'll have an alibi and he'll be forced to believe her. Bonnie's sympathy ploy in the face of Julie's accusations was successful. Coming: Victor awaits more evidence to nail Nicole.

General Hospital

Many people were trapped as a raging fire spread through the Port Charles Hotel. Sonny had Carly served with a restraining order after Alcazar took the children to see her. But Ric helped Carly win temporary custody of Michael and Morgan. Brian told Courtney he knows she shot him, and revealed that he's in love with her. After Luke tricked Helena into taking him to the treasure,

Soap Synopsis

he and Sam agreed to steal the loot, but Sam knocked Luke out and took it for herself. Cameron removed the bullet from Zander's leg and made a stunning confession to him. Coming: Sonny tells Carly he loves her.

Guiding Light

Jeffrey warned Carrie to leave the women alone, but as Marina followed an underground passage to Carrie's room, the tunnel walls collapsed on her. Rick and Mel tricked Ed into resigning from the hospital, but were equally relieved and upset over having to deceive him for his own good. Olivia shocked everyone at the Spaulding board meeting intending to represent Phillip's interests. Gus also attended the meeting as a spy for Jeffrey. Coming: Drug dealing spells trouble for Springfield.

One Life to Live

Moved by Blair's emotional plea to spare everyone the pain of a public trial, Todd told Evangeline to accept Nora's deal. However, a pressured Blair drove off and got into a minor accident and called Kevin for help, which Kelly relayed to Todd. River accused Dorian of claiming to be Adriana's mother only for her inheritance and then met Adriana at the airport as they left to get married in another state. Marcie started to see a glimmer of Al in Michael's eyes. The killer didn't quite finish off Natalie and left a taunting note for John. Coming: The moment of truth for Marcie and Al.

Passions

Theresa snuck into the mansion to see little Ethan just as Gwen and Ethan were making love. Fox offered comfort afterward to a devastated Theresa. Julian demanded answers from his father as Sheridan's dangerous therapy continued.

py continued. Simone returned home and lashed out at Whitney for stealing Chad. Charity decided to be bad and flirted with other men to push Miguel away, but he believed it was all an act. As Whitney threatened to reveal Eve's lies and betrayal to T.C., Eve tried to convince Whitney she has things all wrong, and tried to stop her from spilling everything. Coming: Alistair says something shocking to Julian.

Young and Restless

After speaking with Victor, Ashley decided that it's time to tell him the truth about Abby's paternity. A startled Brad supported her decision, but Nikki begged her not to do it. Against Michael's advice, Sharon waited until Nick left on a business trip, and attempted to move Cameron's body. Diane blackmailed Phyllis into giving one of the orchids to Jack and mending their marriage, adding that she will keep the second bloom as insurance. Arthur agreed to think about helping Kay quit drinking. As romance heated up between Danny and Chris, he suddenly stopped and said there's something that Chris needs to know. Coming: Raul wants to bring Brittany's assailant to justice.

Soap Talk

Ingle still heads the Quartermaine dynasty

By Candace Havens
© Zap2it

John Ingle (Edward Quartermaine) is staying on "General Hospital."

In early December, the soap opera announced that Ingle, along with several other actors, had been let go. But things have changed.

The latest statement from ABC says, "The role of Edward Quartermaine - so perfectly portrayed by consummate gentleman John Ingle - will continue on the daytime drama into the foreseeable future. The cast and crew are thrilled John will remain with 'GH.'"

There's also good news for fans of Cady McClain, who plays Rosanna Cabot in "As the World Turns." Executive producer Christopher Goutman released a statement that said she would continue with the show as "a valued cast member." The actress will appear on a recurring basis.

Dear Candace: Can you please tell me what happened to the actress who played Amy for years on "GH"? She hasn't been on at all the last few times I've been able to catch the show. For a long time she had a clothing line, and I bought some of her things off of the television. I'm just curious if she gave up show business to become a fashion mogul or something. -Karen M. via the Internet.

Dear Reader: Shell Kepler, who plays Amy Vining, still works on a recurring basis with the show. Her clothing is available in retail stores, or you can check out the merchandise at <http://www.qccl.com>.

Dear Candace: I heard there were changes with my favorite soap opera and I wanted to find out what you might know about them. I like to watch "The Young and the Restless." Someone said that Katherine Chancellor is leaving the show. -Betty Stevens via the Internet.

Dear Reader: Jeanne Cooper (Katherine) recently celebrated her 30th year with the show and has no intention of leaving. She did suffer an illness for a few weeks in December but is back at work.

Former executive producer Ed Scott has returned as a supervising producer, and at press time the show is looking for a new executive producer.

Movie: The Mummy Returns

A decade has passed for the characters again played by Brendan Fraser and Rachel Weisz in this 2001 adventure sequel, but similar mayhem is on tap. Now married parents, they become engaged once more in battle against the ancient enemy (Arnold Vosloo), who has been shipped in a mummified state to London. Wrestling icon The Rock co-stars as the Scorpion King, who received his own movie spinoff later.

7 p.m. on USA
Westminster Kennel Club
Dog Show

Many canines and their owners are at Madison Square Garden in New York for the opening night of this competition. Forget the satirical movie "Best in Show" for now: This is the real thing, and the stakes are high as different breeds vie to come out on top in their respective categories. Expert commentary is provided by David Frei, and Mark McEwen hosts; the closing-night festivities will be presented Tuesday.

7:59 p.m. on 6-NBC
Las Vegas

Jean-Claude Van Damme guest stars as himself — and apparently dies — in the new episode "Die Fast, Die Furious." He's making a movie at the Montecito when a motorcycle stunt goes awry, evidently killing the action-film icon. Sam (Vanessa Marcil) encounters an ambitious rival (guest star Ian Anthony Dale). Delinda (Molly Sims) continues to mourn the loss of her latest beau.

Monday Best Bets

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Everybody Loves Raymond

Ray (Ray Romano) reaches his limit with Debra's (Patricia Heaton) perpetual tardiness and leaves her at home — much to her displeasure — as he attends the sports world's ESPY Awards in the new episode "Lateness." Inspired by the situation, Frank and Robert (Peter Boyle, Brad Garrett) complain about their own wives' (Doris Roberts, Monica Horan) alleged ignorance of timeliness.

8 p.m. on 38-WB
Everwood

When Madison (Sarah Lancaster) tells him her roommate is going away, Ephram (Gregory Smith) thinks that's his cue to take his romance with her to the next level in the new episode "No Sure Thing." Wanting to become more intimate with Tommy (guest star Paul Wasilewski), Amy (Emily VanCamp) asks Andy (Treat Williams) to help her acquire birth-control pills. Andy wants Linda (Marcia Cross) to spend the night.

8:30 p.m. on 4-CBS

Two and a Half Men

Much to Alan's (Jon Cryer) dismay, Charlie (Charlie Sheen) becomes attracted to a woman (guest star Jenna Elfman, "Dharma & Greg") he sees attacking a car with a baseball bat in "Round One to the Hot Crazy Chick." Part 1 of a new two-part episode. When she turns out to be much different than Alan anticipated, he also takes a romantic interest in her.

Tuesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

8 Simple Rules

Jonathan Taylor Thomas ("Home Improvement") guest stars as Bridget's (Kaley Cuoco) new tutor, who may become more to her, in Part 1 of the new episode "Opposites Attract." As Valentine's Day approaches, he could find himself sharing the romantic occasion with her. Cate and Jim (Katey Sagal, James Garner) advise Rory (Martin Spanjers) on an appropriate gift to give his girlfriend.

Gilmore Girls

While back in Stars Hollow, Jess (Milo Ventimiglia) has several uncomfortable encounters with Rory (Alexis Bledel) in the new episode "Nag Hammadi Is Where They Found the Gnostic Gospels." Jess also has problems with Luke (Scott Patterson), whom he accuses of meddling in others' lives. Lorelai and Jason (Lauren Graham, Chris Eigeman) are only too happy to meet Emily's (Kelly Bishop) request to pretend they're a couple.

I'm With Her

Brooke Shields, whose marriage to series co-creator and executive producer Chris Henchy inspired this show, guest stars in the new episode "Poison Ivy." She plays a former friend taken in by Alex (Teri Polo) after leaving rehab. Cheri (Rhea Seehorn) meets an older version of herself, another woman (guest star Anne Belamy) who has been the longtime assistant to her own movie-star sister.

Will & Grace

Will (Eric McCormack) is in a tough spot when his new client (guest star Dave Foley, "NewsRadio") falls for Jack (Sean Hayes) — who isn't interested — in the new episode "Ice Cream Balls." Fearing he'll lose the client if Jack doesn't reciprocate, Will offers his friend a bribe. Grace and Karen (Debra Messing, Megan Mullally) get a big, very spendable surprise at Leo's cabin in Vermont.

24

Chase (James Badge Dale) resents being left out of the negotiations for acquisition of the virus, prompting Jack (Kiefer Sutherland) to go over the nuts and bolts of being a CTU operative, in the new episode "Day 3: 1:00 AM — 2:00 AM." Nina (Sarah Clarke) again proves that nothing she says or does can be trusted, as she literally targets CTU.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

The Guardian

Directed by actor Emilio Estevez, the new episode "All Is Mended" presents Nick (Simon Baker) with startling news about his forthcoming baby. Lulu (Wendy Moniz) tells him that their child will be born with Down syndrome, prompting Nick to tackle a case involving another child with that condition. He also represents a single father accused of molestation by the man's daughter.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

One Tree Hill

A car accident leaves Lucas' (Chad Michael Murray) life hanging in the balance in the new episode "Hanging by a Moment." With emergency medical treatment pending, Dan (Paul Johansson) has no choice but to admit that Lucas is his son. Peyton (Hilarie Burton) comes clean with Brooke (Sophia Bush) about the unexpected, very private moment she shared with Lucas.

Scrubs

Not seen in an acting role since his departure from "Spin City," Michael J. Fox goes back before the cameras by teaming with this show's creator-producer, Bill Lawrence — who also worked on the earlier series — in "The Catalyst," the first half of a new, two-episode stint. Fox plays a surgeon who can maneuver his obsessive-compulsive behavior to his benefit ... until he runs into J.D. (Zach Braff) and some other doctors.

8:59 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

The arrest of an alleged rapist leads to Benson and Stabler's (Mariska Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) discovery of a murder in the new episode "Families." The victim is a teenager who was pregnant at the time of her death, and DNA evidence reveals her condition was the result of incest. The police detectives then try to determine which relative, or relatives, may be responsible for the pregnancy and the killing.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

Judging Amy

Amy (Amy Brenneman) ponders how safe a youngster (guest star Kane Richotte) will be if he's placed in the custody of his father (guest star Nicholas Lea, "The X-Files") — a federally protected witness — after the boy's mother dies in the new episode "Roadhouse Blues." Maxine (Tyne Daly) discovers some high-school students' suicide pact. The story was directed by actress Helen Shaver ("The Color of Money").

Wednesday Best Bets

6 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Three Men and a Little Lady

This 1990 sequel to "Three Men and a Cradle" reunites Jack, Peter and Michael (Ted Danson, Tom Selleck, Steve Guttenberg), who are raising Jack and Sylvia's (Nancy Travis) daughter, Mary (Robin Weisman). However, Sylvia decides to move to England to wed her new boyfriend, and she intends to take Mary with her. Horrified by the thought of long-distance parenting, the three men set out to stop the nuptials.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

That '70s Show

Without Kelso (Ashton Kutcher) knowing it, Donna and Eric (Laura Prepon, Topher Grace) help themselves to his car — which then goes off a cliff — in the new episode "I Can See for Miles." The timing is especially bad for Kelso, who is supposed to drive Brooke (guest star Shannon Elizabeth) to see her doctor. Jackie (Mila Kunis) gives Hyde's (Danny Masterson) room an extreme makeover.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

Star Trek: Enterprise

If you've been waiting to see Trip and T'Pol (Connor Trinneer, Jolene Blalock) get as up-close and personal as possible, the new episode "Harbinger" is your story. Their relationship goes to the next level after Trip appears to take a romantic interest in someone else. Archer and Dr. Phlox (Scott Bakula, John Billingsley) are baffled over an alien (guest star Thomas Kopache) found drifting in the Expanse.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Angel

A part of Angel's (David Boreanaz) past resurfaces to haunt him and his colleagues in the new episode "Why We Fight." They're taken captive by a man (guest star Eyal Podell) with ties to World War II, when Angel helped the U.S. Navy rescue U.S. seamen from a German submarine. Spike (James Marsters) also was involved in that crisis, having been abducted and forced to assist the Nazis.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

The West Wing

The president (Martin Sheen) sees evidence of a nuclear detonation over the Indian Ocean, then tries to figure out which country set it off, in the new episode "The Warfare of Genghis Khan." He then sends bomber jets toward Iran, which is determined to be the likely culprit. Josh (Bradley Whitford) takes a skeptical view of NASA's plans — until he falls for a female administrator at the space agency.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

Medici: Godfathers of the Renaissance

The Medici family's far-reaching influence on Western culture during the 15th century is recalled in this new two-part miniseries. "Birth of a Dynasty" traces patriarch Cosimo de' Medici's use of his wealth to improve the image of Florence, Italy, and its surroundings. In "The Magnificent Medici," Lorenzo — Cosimo's grandson — becomes a patron to artistic legends such as Michelangelo, Botticelli and Leonardo da Vinci.

8:59 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

A real-life murder that occurred last summer in New York is the obvious inspiration for the new episode "City Hall." A city councilman is killed and a water inspector wounded in their workplace, prompting Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) to seek clues in the dead man's background. Ultimately, the surviving shooting victim proves to be the key to finding the culprit.

9 p.m. on AMC

Movie: Gunfight at the O.K. Corral

Of their numerous screen teamings over the course of their careers, long-time friends Burt Lancaster and Kirk Douglas had one of their very best with their re-creation of a legendary Old West showdown. In director John Sturges' excellent 1957 Western, written by novelist Leon Uris ("Exodus"), Lancaster plays lawman Wyatt Earp, and Douglas is Doc Holliday. Dennis Hopper portrays a member of the Clantons, the gang they oppose.

9 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Tango & Cash

It's tough to be on the wrong side of the law, especially if you're an ex-cop. Ray Tango and Gabe Cash (Sylvester Stallone, Kurt Russell) are L.A. policemen who are at the top of their games when life as they know it comes crashing down on them. Framed for murder by a crime lord, the two are sent to prison, then break out and try to prove their innocence. Teri Hatcher and Jack Palance co-star in this 1989 action flick.

Martin Sheen

Friday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Joan of Arcadia

Amber Tamblyn works with her fellow-actor father, Russ Tamblyn ("West Side Story"), as he guest stars as a dog walker who conveys a message from God in the new episode "Night Without Stars." She's upset when her commitment to perform volunteer work conflicts with her concert date with Adam (Christopher Marquette), who takes another girl to the show instead. Kevin's (Jason Ritter) behavior regresses.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Reba

Kyra (Scarlett Pomers) punches out a classmate who maligned Cheyenne (JoAnna Garcia), forcing Reba and Brock (Reba McEntire, Christopher Rich) to decide whether to reward or punish Kyra, in the new episode "Sister Act." Van (Steve Howey) overdoes it while helping Jake (Mitch Hollman) create a model volcano for a science fair.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

Movie: Shaft

Samuel L. Jackson stars as the nephew and namesake of smooth private eye John Shaft (Richard Roundtree) in this 2000 remake of the 1971 blaxploitation classic. Young Shaft is a New York police detective opposing a wealthy bigot (Christian Bale) who killed a black man (Mekhi Phifer) in cold blood. The murderer jumped bail and fled the country, but he's back — and Shaft intends to bring him down. Toni Collette and Jeffrey Wright co-star.

7 p.m. on FAM

Movie: Picking Up and Dropping Off

Scott Wolf ("Party of Five") stars in this 2003 romantic-comedy movie co-produced by Lisa Kudrow ("Friends"). He plays a divorced meteorologist who keeps encountering a maritally troubled woman (Amanda Detmer, "Saving Silverman") as they pick up or drop off their respective children at the airport. A relationship eventually results. Kathy Baker ("Picket Fences") co-stars.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

National Geographic Presents: When Animals Attack

As a familiar song says, birds do it and bees do it — and various other species also are seen falling in love in this new special, a definite reversal from usual Fox documentaries like "When Animals Attack." Anacondas, camels and elephant seals are among the creatures seen practicing their particular mating rituals. So is the male Australian red back spider, which allows its female partner to eat it up ... literally.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Hope & Faith

Kevin Sorbo ("Hercules," "Andromeda") guest stars as Charley's (Ted McGinley) visiting medical-school pal in the new episode "Mismatch." He hits it off with Faith (Kelly Ripa), then she decides to go with him when he returns to Africa. Hope (Faith Ford) tries to let Faith know what she's in for by taking her on a camping trip. Hayley's (Macey Cruthird) crush unnerves a friend (guest star Brett Murphy).

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

The Handler

It's a reunion of former "Sopranos" regulars as guest star Annabella Sciorra joins Joe Pantoliano in the new episode "The Big Fall." She plays a woman suspected of murdering several men she met through dating services, making her the object of Joe's (Pantoliano) latest case. He sets himself up to be her next suitor — and next potential target.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Third Watch

Bosco (Jason Wiles) has a personal reason to go back after a petty hoodlum (guest star Nicholas Turturro, "NYPD Blue"), who has had a run-in with Bosco's mother, in the new episode "Blessed and Bewildered." Kim (Kim Raver) and the paramedics face potential eviction from the fire station. Carlos (Anthony Ruivivar) is baffled by his estranged brother's (Adam Beach) desire to go on a ride-along.

9:15 p.m. on TMC

Movie: Color of Night

Furious when Disney executives took away his final-cut rights on this sensual 1994 melodrama, director Richard Rush vowed he would restore the missing parts for non-theatrical showings. He lived up to that pledge, since this is the version he promised. Bruce Willis stars as a psychiatrist drawn into the probe of a colleague's (Scott Bakula) murder.

Saturday Best Bets

A Charlie Brown Valentine

As "Peanuts" fans know, Charlie Brown has been pining for the little red-haired girl; Lucy has been trying to raise Schroeder's head from that Beethoven sheet music; and little Sally has tried every trick in the book to distract Linus from his security blanket, philosophical musings and Great Pumpkin fixation. This animated special, based on the popular comic strip, finds the characters still immersed in their child-sized romantic dilemmas.

Movie: Scent of a Woman

Al Pacino stars as a blind war veteran who gives life lessons to his personal assistant (Chris O'Donnell), a quiet prep school student. Pacino won an Oscar for his performance as the hard-drinking bon vivant. Gabrielle Anwar and Philip S. Hoffman also star in the lengthy but involving 1992 drama movie.

Movie: The Princess Diaries

A modern variation on "Cinderella," director Garry Marshall's charming 2001 comedy stars Anne Hathaway ("Get Real") as a shy, unsophisticated teen whose desire to stay under the radar is trashed by the news that she's a member of royalty. Her long estranged grandmother (an ideally cast Julie Andrews) tries to train her to take over the monarchy. Singer-actress Mandy Moore co-stars.

7:59 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

An unidentified body in the Hudson River turns out to be a missing wife in a troubled marriage in "Floater." Her husband is the initial suspect, but Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) begin to suspect the woman's death is related to corruption at the court where she was employed.

8 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Total Recall

An Oscar winner for its dazzling and plentiful special effects, this fast-paced, violent 1990 science-fiction adventure from director Paul Verhoeven stars Arnold Schwarzenegger. He plays a man who discovers he previously lived another life as a spy on Mars. And you'll get a kick out of the automated taxi driver known as Johnny Cab.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"INTOLERABLE CRUELTY": Offbeat filmmaking brothers Joel and Ethan Coen ("Fargo," "Barton Fink") go a bit more commercial with this sly comedy. George Clooney plays an expert attorney who makes himself the next marital target of an alluring woman (Catherine Zeta-Jones) with a habit of wedding wealthy men, then taking them to the cleaners in divorce settlements. Fans of "The War of the Roses" surely will appreciate this film, in which the two stars look great together. Geoffrey Rush and Edward Herrmann ("Gilmore Girls") also appear. DVD extras: "making-of" documentaries; outtakes; "Rex Rexroth's Home Movies." *** (PG-13: AS, P)

"IN THE CUT": A much steamier, partially more effective Meg Ryan is the most intriguing element of director Jane Campion's ("The Piano") overtly sexual melodrama, based on Susanna Moore's novel. The actress plays a repressed New York teacher whose overtures toward a police detective (Mark Ruffalo, "You Can Count on Me") distract him from investigating several brutal murders in her neighborhood. The typically superb Jennifer Jason Leigh does underrated work as the educator's sister. DVD extras: audio commentary by Campion; "making-of" documentary; "slang dictionary." *** (R and unrated versions: AS, N, P, V)

Video Vantage

"THE LION KING 1-1/2": Video releases with titles like this usually are repackaged versions of the original movie, but this actually is a new take on that film. The characters Timon and Pumbaa (again voiced by Nathan Lane and Ernie Sabella) revisit the story from their own perspectives, so familiar aspects remain present, although they get new twists. Matthew Broderick again is heard as the voice of the older Simba. Other returning voices include Whoopi Goldberg, Moira Kelly and Robert Guillaume. DVD extras: "making-of" documentary; deleted scenes; "Timon & Pumbaa's Virtual Safari 1.5"; "Timon: Beyond the Legend" featurette; games; Nathan Lane audio outtakes; music videos. *** (G)

"SYLVIA": Gwyneth Paltrow admits she felt deeply distressed during the making of this film, since her father's death preceded it, and her own pain gives an extra layer to her fine work as famously tormented author-poet Sylvia Plath ("The Bell Jar"). The script focuses on Plath's relationship with fellow poet Ted Hughes (the also-excellent Daniel Craig, "Road to Perdition"), sent through constant shifts by her complex feelings about him. Blythe Danner, Paltrow's mom, plays her on-screen mother. DVD extra: theatrical trailer. *** (R: AS, N, P)

"WONDERLAND": The background of Los Angeles' so-called "Wonderland Murders" in the summer of 1981 is explored by director and co-writer James Cox in this grim but impactful drama. Val Kilmer does another remarkable chameleon turn as porn star John Holmes, one of the people allegedly involved in the slayings of several drug dealers. The large, well-assembled cast also includes Josh Lucas ("Sweet Home Alabama"), Christina Applegate, Lisa Kudrow, Kate Bosworth ("Win a

"PARTY MONSTER": Macaulay Culkin makes a firm break from his childhood "Home Alone" image with a powerful performance in the fact-inspired, serio-comic tale of Michael Alig, a young man who was big on the New York club scene in the late 1980s and early '90s. His popularity on the circuit, and the excesses in which he indulged, gave him a feeling of invincibility - to the point where he felt he could get away with murder. Co-stars include Seth Green ("The Italian Job"), Chloe Sevigny, Natasha Lyonne, Wilson Cruz ("My So-Called Life"), Dylan McDermott and rock star Marilyn Manson. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by producer-directors Fenton Bailey and Randy Barbato; "making-of" documentary; interview with cast members and Michael Alig; behind-the-scenes footage. *** (R: AS, P, V)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"DICKIE ROBERTS: FORMER CHILD STAR" (Feb. 17): David Spade plays a once-popular actor who still wants to experience the normal childhood he never had. (PG-13: AS, P)

"RUNAWAY JURY" (Feb. 17): A trial juror (John Cusack) plays opposing counsels (Dustin Hoffman, Gene Hackman) against each other in the John Grisham story. (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"MATCHSTICK MEN" (Feb. 24): A con man's (Nicolas Cage) latest scheme is complicated by the arrival of his teenage daughter (Alison Lohman), who wants to learn his trade. (PG-13: AS, P, V)

'Perfect Proposal' is a perfect match for Valentine's Day

By Jacqueline Cutler

A proposal of marriage is usually among life's more private moments. Oh, traditionalists may first talk with the bride's parents. Perhaps siblings know he is about to pop the question. Maybe the woman suspects the timing.

However, millions of strangers are not involved in this intimate moment. Yet that is precisely what The Learning Channel hopes for in its five-day stunt, "Win a Perfect Wedding Week," in honor of Valentine's Day. "Perfect Proposal," a half-hour daytime reality show, revolves around a prospective groom concocting an elaborate ruse that culminates in a marriage proposal.

This week, five couples vie for an all-expenses paid wedding courtesy of TLC. After the last episode airs Friday, Feb. 13, viewers may vote online at <http://tlc.discovery.com> to select their favorite couple, whose nuptials will be featured in "Win a Perfect Wedding," a one-hour prime-time special March 6.

For now, the recently engaged women are still reeling from the surprise of their unusual proposals.

"I am ecstatic," says Sarah Lee, an auditor in Chicago. "I feel like it's kind of a dream. Everything has been happening so fast."

Her beau, David Lin, also an auditor, devised a complicated plan involving Lee's boss and her love of chocolate. As an auditor, Lee sometimes has to authenticate signatures or events. Once Lin convinced Lee's boss of his plan, the boss assigned Lee to attend a press conference and record the proceedings.

At the bogus press conference, pastry chef Alain Roby, who creates intricate sculptures out of chocolate, gives a presentation of his work. The rows are filled with fake reporters, who are really hotel employees. As Roby is about to present his final piece of work, he tells the audience that this one is the most important, so Lee steps back to have a better vantage point to capture it on tape.

"I think it is a life-size chocolate chauffeur," Lee says, recalling her initial reactions. "It is a person in a tuxedo, holding a platter with the box on the platter. I thought he was an exhibit and I was looking through the camera. Oh my God! That's my boyfriend."

At that point, Lin, wearing a tuxedo he had picked out with Lee's sister, Elvira, walks toward her. She drops the camera as he drops to one knee.

"I love you so much," Lin says to Lee. "You are my best friend and the love of my life. And I want you to marry me. Sarah, will you marry me?"

Through her tears, she says yes, and everyone in the room applauds.

In addition to a ring, tears and the pronouncements of love, the other constant on "Perfect Proposal" is host Nikki Boyer. She seems genuinely happy to guide the groom-to-be, and helps prepare the ruse for the bride-to-be.

"I have a great job," she says from Molokai, Hawaii, while working on a future episode of "Perfect Proposal." "And I get to be part of one of the most important days in someone's life, and that's an honor for me. The first two days we are having fun, and on the third day, it hits you - this is someone's life. When he gets down on one knee, it has nothing to do with TV, or the lights, or the cameras. That's when it hits me, and I realize how amazing this moment is. And that's when it becomes so real for the guy and for me."

It is all quite real for Aaron Hawkins, a police officer from Pflugerville, Texas, a suburb of Austin, who proposes to Mandi Boecker. Boecker, who works in licensing for an environmental commission, loves Harley-

Davidson motorcycles. Hawkins concocts a fake contest for her to win one, and his prize is that he wins her hand.

Boecker enters the bogus contest, and "Perfect Proposal" hires actors to pose as the other contestants. Whoever keeps a hand on the bike the longest wins. Whenever Boyer rings a cowbell, a contestant is challenged. One woman thrusts her hand into a bowl of worms, and a man must decide between taking a fistful of cash or continuing to try to win the bike.

When Boyer taps Boecker for her challenge, the host blindfolds her. Boecker must choose between the motorcycle and what is in front of her. When they remove the blindfold, Boecker finds Hawkins, on bended knee, holding a diamond ring.

Boecker collapses on top of Hawkins, but not before she ribs him a bit. "Is this real?" she asks, laughing and crying simultaneously "Is there a bike involved? Who are these people?"

Hawkins sticks to his message, saying, "Will you do me the honor of making me the happiest man in the world?"

Boecker is one of the rare brides who would be thrilled to have someone else pick her gown and flowers. "That would be so awesome to have somebody else to take care of everything," she says from Brooklyn, N.Y., where she is visiting a cousin. "They said, 'If you have a dress in your mind, get it out of your head.' I am fine about that. We are talking about giving up control."

Nikki Boyer, host of The Learning Channel's "Perfect Proposal," beginning Monday, is at work on her 42nd episode. She says, "I can't believe I get to be part of someone's proposal."
